CROWDS THRONG TIJUANA CAFES

Border is Open All Night for Celebrators

More Than 12,000 Said to Have Gone Over

Many Noted Persons Stay for Day's Races

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 1.—Twelve thousand persons, the majority of them from upstate points, blocked themselves across the international border to Tijuana last night to celebrate the debut of 1924 with all of the old-time trimmings. This was the estimate this morning of border officials.

Under a temporary ruling the border remained open all night and full advantage was taken of this opportunity to "loosen up" with the carefree abandon for which the Mexican town is noted.

ARRESTS ARE FEW

The Tijuana cafes did a flourishing business, but the number of arrests for drunkenness in American border officials was comparatively small. Seventeen men who were adjudged to be too well lubricated to manipulate their cars were detained in the "drunk tank" and their machines held as bail.

Owing to the slippery condition of the road, due to an all-night drizzle, ten machines were ditched or damaged, but no fatalities were recorded.

In the city proper the enthusiasm of celebrators were appreciably dampened by the rain which was heaviest between 1 and 3 o'clock. Vigilance maintained by prohibition officers prevented any noticeable infraction of the law.

REMAIN FOR RACES

Of the week-end crowd, numbering thousands, a majority stayed over for the New Year's Day racing program at the Tijuana Jockey Club. The register of the Hotel del Coronado contained the names of many notables in the business, social and motion-picture world. Among them are Samuel Goldwyn, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Harris, New York; Irvin Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Edelman, Miss Wanita Edelman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Siegel, Milton Cohn, Mrs. Ann T. Morosco, Mrs. Paul Michener, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bachman, all of Los Angeles; F. Fuller, Portland, Or., banker; Alexander Pantages, Mr. and Mrs. D. McKee Morris and children of Pittsburg.

BRAWLEY IS SHAKEN

Light Temblors Felt During Night and Day

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BRAWLEY, Jan. 1.—Intermittent earth rumblings which began at 9:30 o'clock last night and which apparently had ceased at 5 o'clock this morning were noticeable here again at 2 o'clock this afternoon, at 4 o'clock and at 5:30.

There were more than three separate tremors during the night, none heavy, and each accompanied by a thunder-like rumble which also was noted when no shock were felt.

No damage had been reported early tonight.

Inquiries Aimed Against G.O.P.

Democratic-Radical Plot to Besmirch Administration Seen in Congress

Every Government Bureau is Subject of Quizzes for Political Purposes

BY GRAFTON WILCOX
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—With the Christmas truce ending tomorrow, Republican leaders today believe to scent a plot on the part of the Democrats and insurgents to launch the administration reconstruction by starting a veritable orgy of Congressional investigations.

Several investigations have already been ordered and no less than fifty more would be started if resolutions pending are adopted. Republican leaders are seeking to find a way to call a halt on them but if the Democrats and insurgents ally in support of them it will be a difficult task, particularly in the Senate.

The investigating fever is no new malady in Congress. It always breaks out in especially virulent form in Presidential campaign years. The minority party may not have any particular object to shoot at but they calculate that if they can get enough investigations started one of them may turn up some "dirt" that would be good on the stump during the campaign. The Republicans foresee this and beat the Democrats to it when they undertook the investigation of the Veterans' Bureau under the administration of Col. Charles R. Forbes.

NOT STILL INCOMPLETE

But there are many other departments and bureaus in the government which ought to be investigated, the Democrats and insurgents say. With more than fifty investigations proposed the program is still incomplete because Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, leader of the insurgents, is still to be heard from.

The investigation program covers practically every bureau and commission in the government, according to Senator Smoot, Republican, the watch dog of the Treasury who has been giving some attention to the matter.

"With the campaign coming on there was the open season for investigations," said Senator Smoot. "The taxpayers must pay the bill unless there are enough high-minded members of Congress to vote against them."

COST OF INQUIRIES

HOPES RISE AT CANTON

Consuls Prepare to Mediate

Departure of Warships Has Effect of Smoothing Touchy Situation

Readiness of Powers to Act in Unison for Pacts Demonstrated

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CANTON (China) Jan. 2.—The perilous situation at Canton is easing. Today two American destroyers, the Noa and the Peary, and an English gunboat, the Robin, left the harbor. Following the departure of the war vessels there was a noticeable lessening of tension and an increase of confidence that a settlement will be reached without resort to arms.

French sailors are no longer guarding their consulate, while British marines, instead of drilling daily, are playing rugby. Americans have been granted shore leave for the first time in several weeks.

Warships anchored in the river now include four American, three British, two Japanese, one Portuguese and one French.

FORCE NOT FEARED

Since the Diplomatic Corps decided that it could not rightfully control the customs surplus, the consular body is no longer concerned in the discussions between the Canton foreign minister and Sir Francis Aglen, chief customs inspector at Peking. Should they be unable to agree the consular body is ready to use its good offices to mediate. Should Sun Yat-Sen attempt to seize the customs office during the discussions—which is improbable—landing parties from the foreign warships will still be in position to eject the invaders.

Extremely tactful handling by the local consular and naval officials smoothed the touchy situation which was liable to develop antiforeign sentiment and attacks throughout all China.

Before the arrival of the French and British admirals in response to urgent appeals the cooler judgment of the consuls predominated and the naval chiefs left the situation to the consular body. Later the arrival of American and Japanese warships had a salutory effect, showing China as well as Canton that the powers were prepared to act in unison to prevent violation of the treaties. This demonstrated, they are now ready to depart, leaving only the station ships at Canton.

It is hoped that the visit of Minister Schurman, who is due at Canton from Hongkong today, will further quiet the situation.

BUY PLAY SPOT FOR BANKERS

Hope County Ranch Sold to Syndicate Planning Exclusive Club

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 2.—Plans to make Santa Barbara the bankers' playground of America were brought to a head here today in the purchase of Hope County Ranch of 1625 acres by a syndicate represented by H. B. Chase, a real estate man.

The western 800 acres of the ranch, it was announced tonight, are to be made into a country club for bankers, and the syndicate has guaranteed to sell 3000 memberships within eighty days, at $500 each.

This will provide a fund of $1,500,000 for improvements. The erection of a hotel clubhouse with accommodations for 500 guests will be one of the first steps taken, it was said.

There are 36,000 banks in the United States and it is expected eventually to enroll about 10,000 members from the number.

Hope County Ranch is three miles west of Santa Barbara and has an ocean frontage of approximately a mile. The remainder is admirably adapted to landscaping of the highest order, it was said.

H. M. Robinson in Conference in Washington

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles selected to serve on one of the reparations inquiry committees soon to be organized in Paris, conferred at length today with Secretary Hughes.

After the conference Mr. Robinson called at the White House and paid his respects to President Coolidge.

Leaving Washington tonight, Mr. Robinson will spend the remainder of the week in New York and will sail for Europe Saturday.

Dynamite Piled on His Chest as Suicide Method

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—Piling dynamite on his chest and setting a match to a fuse, Michael Bertelli, 534 Broadway, killed himself in Funston Square today.

When school children crossed from Webster to Bay street they found the remains of the man and notified police of the North End Station.

Detective Sergeant Patrick O'Connell investigated the case. A key bearing the address 534 Broadway, Room 10, and an envelope addressed to the same place were the only means of identification.

KELS AWAITS THE NOOSE

Family Collapses When Informed Gov. Richardson Unwilling to Interfere With Hanging

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—Alex A. Kels, well-to-do butcher of Lodi, lay in the death cell at Folsom State prison, east of here, tonight resigned to his fate after having been told this afternoon by his sister, Mrs. H. A. Staples of Lodi, that Gov. Richardson, upon whom the Kels family had pinned its hopes for a commutation of sentence, had declined to interfere to prevent Kels's execution Friday morning for the self-confessed murder of Ed Meservey itinerant worker, near Lodi, last September 12.

At the family home in Lodi Mrs. Kels, who collapsed after she had been informed of the Governor's decision, tonight remained in a serious condition, according to word received here.

BIBLE PERUSED

Kels himself, in his cell at Folsom prison, smoked cigarettes and read his Bible. He also received a visit from Father John Hogan, prison chaplin. He appeared resigned to his fate. So far as known, Kels had had no part in the effort to save himself and the information imparted to him that the Governor had found no new evidence to support a plea of insanity advanced by Mrs. Kels was no surprise.

The execution will take place at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Kels was placed in the death cell this morning, and a death watch was placed over him. No invitations to the hanging have been sent out by Warden J. J. Smith of Folsom prison because of the limited accommodations in the death chamber for the handling of many persons. It is expected that only the necessary witnesses and newspaper men will witness the execution.

STRAIN TELLS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LODI, Jan. 2.—The home of Alex A. Kels here resembles a hospital tonight as a result of the collapse of the last hope to save Kels from the gallows at Folsom prison next Friday morning.

Told today over the telephone from Sacramento that Gov. Richardson could not find it legally possible to check the hangman even for the briefest time, Mrs. Kels collapsed, and her condition was considered serious tonight. Dr. E. S. Grigsby, who is attending her, is also in attendance upon Michael Hardlin, her aged father; Laverne, her 9-year-old daughter; Miss May Handlin, her sister, and William Kels, brother of the murderer.

"TIMES" MIDWINTER NUMBER TELLS STORY OF RECORD-BREAKING YEAR

The Midwinter Number of The Times, issued January 1, and now on sale, will show to every person who reads it that in the year 1923 Los Angeles and Southern California made greater advancement and achieved more than any city and surrounding community ever accomplished in one year in the history of North America.

The Southwest is a land unique. It possesses extraordinary resources. It has advantages peculiar to itself. It is unlike any other portion of the globe and its progress is not to be measured by the same yardstick that might be used for other communities.

With these remarkable and exclusive advantages the enterprising people of the Southwest have attained a measure of progress that would seem almost unbelievable to those not well acquainted with the conditions. The accomplishments of the year 1923 constitute an epic in community building. Los Angeles continues to be the fastest growing large city in the world and virtually the whole of Southern California is maintaining the same pace.

A third of a billion dollars expended for new buildings, a harbor business doubled, an expansion of industry in one year that would ordinarily require a decade, a tremendous growth in population, advancement in every line of endeavor make up a striking story—the story which the Southwest has to tell to the rest of the world.

This story is told in The Midwinter Number of The Times which is now speeding on its way to every State in the Union and to other countries. The Midwinter Number of The Times is a recognized and established Southern California institution because for more than thirty-five years it has been the mouthpiece of the people of this community in telling the people elsewhere of our advantages and of what we have accomplished with them.

This Midwinter Number of The Times has its biggest story to tell. It enables every resident of the Southland to tell his friends everywhere in a comprehensive and attractive manner just what is going on in this famous land. This year's edition is larger by more than 50,000 copies than any preceding number and judging by the enormous sales thus far will be exhausted before the end of the week.

OBREGON READY TO RENEW ATTACK ON TWO FRONTS

Thrusts Toward Guadalajara and Vera Cruz May be Delivered Simultaneously

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 2 (via Laredo)—The present week will mark renewed activities against the rebels, according to the War Department, important battles on both fronts being expected before the end of the week.

The approach of the rebels at San Marcos Junction on the Vera Cruz front being impossible, Gen. Eugenio Martinez will continue to advance upon Vera Cruz, aided by a powerful military column now marching through the Huasteca region to recapture Tuxpam, thence attacking the Sanchistas from the rear simultaneously with the Martinez advance.

On the Jalisco front Gen. Amaro's column has been reinforced by 1000 men and preparations have been nearly concluded to resume hostilities against the Estradistas.

Amaro and Martinez will resume the advance simultaneously.

BUY ARMS AT BAY CITY

According to Filipe Buendia, arriving from Manzanillo, Gen. Enrique Estrada again has sent agents to the United States to obtain war material.

Rebel agents successfully bought and loaded at San Francisco a large quantity of arms aboard the steamer Coahuila, belonging to the Compania Naviera Mexicana.

Mazatlan authorities ordered the gunboat Progreso to capture the Coahuila en route to Manzanino, but the Coahuila escaped. The Progresso is patrolling the Pacific Coast searching steamers for contraband arms.

Interruption of railway traffic to Puenta De Ixtla was due to a small bandit group of Indians fighting independently of the column of Gen. Figueroa, who has established himself in the vicinity of Zacualpan, near the border between the States of Guerrero and Mexico.

The War Department has corrected a bulletin issued yesterday stating that negotiations for the purchase of cruisers were under way with the American government. The negotiations are being carried on with private companies instead of the American government.

NEGOTIATIONS CONTINUE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Further conferences between Secretary Weeks and Manuel Telles, charge d'affaires of the Mexican Embassy, will be necessary before details of the sale of surplus war munitions of the American Army to the Mexican government can be completed.

Mr. Weeks conferred today with the charge and Matthew Hanna, chief of the Mexican division of the State Department. Pending completion of the negotiations, the War Secretary declined to make any statement with regard to the pending transaction.

It was indicated that as soon as details of the sale had been completed, a formal statement would be issued by Secretary Weeks disclosing the nature of the munitions sold and probably the conditions fixed as to time and method of payment by the Mexican government. Military precautions of the Mexican government, however, probably will prevent any publication as to the place or time of deliveries.

SEEN AS PROPAGANDA

It is regarded here as possible that the erroneous statement made yesterday in official circles in Mexico City that arms already had been delivered as a result of the arrangement with the Washington government was given out for the purpose of confusing Mexican rebel leaders. The actual deliveries are virtually certain to be made with the greatest possible secrecy.

RUM CASES FILL COURTS IN BAY CITY

On Docket Are 4780 Actions Involving Dry Violations; Big Increase Shown

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—There are 4780 cases involving violations of the prohibition act awaiting action in the United States District Courts in San Francisco.

This was made known today with the filing of 348 cases which will be set for trial on the 12th inst.

The number of cases awaiting trial four months ago totaled 2220.

The rapid increase and the imposing total of cases still awaiting disposal is not attributed to any laxity or indifference on the part of those officials charged with the enforcement of the prohibition law.

Attention was called to the fact today that it long has been known in official circles that the District United States Courts here have been working under pressure which has made congested calendars inevitable, stressing the necessity of an additional Federal judge being assigned to this district.

It also was pointed out that with the recent death of Judge Van Fleet, the illness of Judge Dooling and the still more recent illness of Judge Partridge it has been impossible to expedite the disposal of all cases.

TUTS TOMB CATAFALQUE IS REMOVED

Second Shrine of the Pharaoh is Disclosed in All Its Majesty

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LUXOR (Egypt) Jan. 2.—Tut-Ankh-Amen's great black and gold catafalque—the curious rack supporting the linen pall over the second shrine in the mortuary chamber—was taken down by Howard Carter and his co-workers today. The four pillars and five cross pieces were swathed in bandages and removed to the antechamber of the tomb.

Removal of the rack and pall completely disengages the second shrine, which, with its black and gold "checker-board roof and dull gold sides, stands disclosed in all its massive majesty. The next step, one of the most ticklish of the lot, will be to take apart the sixteen component sections of the walls and cornice of the outer shrine.

The excavators are anxious to see whether the sections of the sides and cornices of the shrine can be got out of the tomb at all, as the sections of the roof of the great wooden canopy are too large to be taken out without cutting down two or three of the last steps of the flight leading into the tomb.

New Year's at Chicago Was Very Dry One

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—The dryest New Year's ever experienced here was the cause of Mayor Dever and Chief of Police Collins issuing words of praise for the police today. Only eleven arrests were made for liquor violations and the offenders were paroled or dismissed with small fines.

COLD WAVE ON COAST

Snow Predicted for Bay City

Record Low Temperatures Registered at Several Points in West

Heavy Frost in Southland Today is Forecast by Weather Bureau

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—California, Oregon and Washington were in the throes of a frigid wave tonight which forced the mercury down to new low levels in certain sections, made the high mountain points wear long dresses of snow which extended to valley towns in Northern California and brought predictions tomorrow for snow in the three States.

The Weather Bureau was unable to confirm reports of snow in sections of San Francisco today, but apartment-house janitors found heating systems entirely inadequate to stave off irate tenants who insisted there was something wrong with the furnaces.

San Francisco and vicinity will be treated to a snowstorm tomorrow if the forecast made tonight by the Weather Bureau is realized. Southern California, where indications of slight damage to the orange crop was evident, in reports of a heavy frost there this morning, will be immune from snow tomorrow, but another severe frost is predicted by the weather man.

SNOW AT RED BLUFF

Reports from Red Bluff tonight said snow was falling fast there.

Low temperature records that had stood for years were shattered in two California points and tied in a third Tuesday night.

At Paso Robles the lowest reading was 9 above zero. The previous record for this point was 13 above. The Santa Barbara record of 27 above was carried away, 28 above being registered.

Santa Rosa awoke to a prospect of frozen water pipes and automobile radiators to find that the low temperature record had been equaled at 18 above zero.

SAN DIEGO WARMEST

At Chico the mercury fell to 1 above, which is but two degrees more than the record for that place. The Colusa reading was 19 as against a record of 22. The big centers of population were the only ones to report temperatures above the freezing point. San Francisco recording 37½ degrees and Los Angeles 37 degrees. San Diego had the highest reading at 39, but the inhabitants of that place figured that it was "cold enough."

The Merced reading was 19 as against a record of 16, while at Bakersfield it was 21 as against a record of 13. An extensive high-pressure area over the plateau region is given as the reason for the general California shiver. The weather is generally clear and is expected to continue so. The present cold wave has no connection with the glacial atmospheres and accompanying storms that are being experienced in other parts of the country, the Weather Bureau said.

SACRAMENTO SHIVERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—Sacramento's cold wave continued today and reached its lowest temperature at 6 a.m. when the Weather Bureau reported the mercury stood at 26 degrees above zero, a mark rarely reached in this region. The government thermometer at the city plaza, which is on the ground level, registered 24 degrees. No damage to fruit was expected as

CITRUS MEN TO FIGHT FROST

Absence of Wind and Predictions of Killing Cold Stir Growers to Every Precaution

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 2.—Smudge pots throughout the San Bernardino Valley were pouring smoke into the skies tonight as citrus fruit growers fought to save their crops from freezing temperatures.

Escaping Tuesday night with slight damage in the low districts, the growers were alarmed today as the skies cleared and James W. Arnold, government meteorologist, announced that lower temperatures were to be expected tonight and before dawn tomorrow. The barometric pressure soared fast today, indicating, Mr. Arnold announced, that there will be little if any wind. The crop in many districts was saved this morning by winds beginning shortly after midnight when it appeared that smudging alone would prevent a freeze.

The government forecast for tonight was a "killing frost."

An investigation today in the fruit belt by County Horticultural Commissioner James W. Coy and Mr. Arnold brought an announcement from Mr. Coy that there was only "slight damage" to the orange crop.

"Fruit in the low districts in Upland, Ontario, Redlands and Highland was damaged but only slightly," said Mr. Coy.

"In Fontana, Rialto and the Bloomington districts there was little if any damage, due to the winds."

Although the temperatures dropped below the freezing point in some districts its duration was short, due to the wind late in the night. Doubt exists as to damage to the lemon crop but no damage was reported during the day.

Fruit in the Rialto, Bloomington and Colton sections was safe, the

INTERIOR PURSE BULGES IN YEAR

Financial Rejuvenation Seen in Department Report

Mining, Industrial and Farm Resources Increase

Timber Sales and Royalties on Oil Take Jump

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The fall of the curtain on the year of 1923 concludes a period of financial rejuvenation in the various activities of the Department of the Interior, according to Secretary of the Interior Work.

Receipts from its bureaus dealing with mineral, industrial and agricultural resources of the nation have all shown substantial increases, he reported yesterday. In some instances there have been tremendous gains.

The total value of the individual and tribal property of the Indians, the guardianship of which is administered by the Interior Department, increased from $727,124,000 in 1922 to $1,010,000,000 in 1923, according to the Secretary. The income of the Indians from this estate was $23,957,000 in 1922, while in 1923 it advanced to $28,679,000, a gain of $14,722,000.

MINERALS PRODUCED

Mineral leases on public lands have also brought larger revenues. The sum of $6,374,000 was collected from this source in 1922. During the year 1923 receipts from mineral leases increased to $7,504,000, a gain of $1,130,000.

Sales from timber in the Oregon and California railroad land grants increased from $262,000 to $756,000. Likewise the production of oil on the public domain has almost doubled in the last two years, the total number of barrels taken from wells in 1922 being 18,236,000, as compared with 28,443,000 in 1923. Royalty oil, including naval reserves turned over to the government through leases has bounded upward from 1,121,000 barrels in 1921 to 7,647,000 barrels in 1923. The receipts last year were $8,071,000, and in the previous year they were $4,768,000.

PARKS MAKE GAIN

The national park service, having supervision over nineteen national parks and twenty-six national monuments, increased its income from $437,000 in 1922 to $513,000 in 1923. The number of visitors who traveled to these playgrounds of the people, spending millions of dollars, totaled 1,493,712 in 1923, as compared with 1,216,490 in 1922. Receipts of reclamation also gained $1,413,000, and the total crop value on the twenty-four irrigation projects operated by the government increased from $49,620,000 in 1922 to $50,360,000 in 1923. The revenue of the Patent Office showed a gain of $113,000 last year.

"With the door of the new year now opening the prospect for the future is no longer conjectural," said Secretary Work. "The nation, like a ship in a gale, has gradually righted itself during the last two years, after the gloomy days of business depression and financial stagnation. An era of unprecedented prosperity is now ahead of us."

COPPER ASSOCIATION IS NOT TO DISBAND

SEVERAL MEMBERS OF EXPORT CONCERN WILL QUIT, HEAD ANNOUNCES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The withdrawal of several members from the Copper Export Association was announced today by R. L. Mr. Agassiz said the export organization, however, would not be disbanded as previously had been reported.

The companies which will withdraw February 1, include the Kennecott interests, the Phelps-Dodge Company and the American Smelting and Refining Company.

Disagreement as to the method of marketing surplus copper was understood to have influenced the withdrawal.

REBEL OIL EDICT TO BE FLOUTED

American Producers Not to Obey Huertista Decree

Revolutionary Chief Wants to Collect Tax Levies

Meeting Friday Will Decide Attitude of Companies

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—American oil companies which operate in Mexico, served today with a decree of the De la Huerta revolutionary government directing that production taxes be paid in future to the revolutionists at Vera Cruz, will meet at 11:30 o'clock Friday morning to discuss the situation.

While none of the companies would discuss the matter for publication, the concensus among all officials was that no notice would be taken of the De la Huerta's decree at this time.

It was said in well informed quarters that oil companies would continue to pay production taxes to the Obregon government in view of the fact that their reports indicated that the Mexico City officers had the situation well in hand and for the further reason that the American government has shown a disposition to lend its support to the established government.

SERVED ON DIRECTOR

The De la Huerta decree was served on Guy Stevens, director of the Association of Producers of Petroleum in Mexico, by Enrique Seldner, confidential agent of De la Huerta, who recently opened offices in this city.

All of the companies operating in Mexico, including the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, the Mexican Petroleum Company, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Gulf Oil Company, Sinclair Consolidated Oil Company, and the Texas Company are members of the association.

The De la Huerta agent received a copy of the decree by telegraph and immediately sent copies in both Spanish and English to the association's headquarters.

Article 1 of the decree directed that "the tax on national production of petroleum shall be collected exclusively and only in the offices of the supreme headquarters of the revolution in Vera Cruz."

The second article stated that the export taxes, the proceeds of which are intended to be applied on interest payments on the Mexican external debt, shall be continued as heretofore. This was understood to mean that De la Huerta had no intention of interfering with the plan of the Mexican government to carry out the terms of its agreement for the resumption of interest and principal payments on the external debt.

It was pointed out in that connection that De la Huerta was the official representative of the Mexican government in the debt agreement conferences. The American companies, it was said, would continue to pay the export taxes either to the Obregon government at Mexico City or direct to the banking house of J. P. Morgan and Company in New York, where the funds would be available to the international committee of bankers on Mexico.

The third article of the De la Huerta decree stated that any future production tax, payments not made in accordance with the decree would be considered "null and of no effect."

PRODUCERS NOT WORRIED

American producers of Mexican oil apparently were not greatly concerned over the immediate effect of the De la Huerta effort to divert taxes from the Mexican government into the coffers of the revolutionists. Thus far, it was stated, advices indicated that the chief port for exporting oil, Tampico, was in the hands of the Obregon government and that until the De la Huerta forces obtained physical control of that port, the situation would not be particularly complicated.

The Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, which is said to pay approximately one-half of the Mexican oil taxes, recently advanced 10,000,000 gold pesos to the Obregon government, the sum covering its estimated production taxes for 1924. Both the Obregon government and the De la Huerta faction have recognized the payment, it was said, because of the fact that the money was advanced prior to the outbreak of the revolution.

ties credited in Mexico City advices to the Washington government, and designed to aid the Obregon government in restoring order, officials were less reticent. It was reiterated at the State Department that no project for a sale to Mexico of war craft was being considered or could be considered under American obligations imposed by the naval limitation treaty. It also was declared that no plan to take steps against agents in this country of the Mexican revolutionists had been made and that none would be considered unless the agents should violate American laws.

The Mexico City report that arms already had been delivered to Obregon government officials was met by Secretary Weeks with the statement that he "could not confirm" that announcement. Beyond that he refused to discuss the arms transaction.

PLAN COUNTER-OFFENSIVE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 1.—(Delayed in Transmission.) Gen. Guadalupe Sanchez, the rebel leader, has concentrated 1200 of his followers from the garrison at Boca Del Monte, at Esperanza, and plans a counter-offensive against San Marcos, according to reports transmitted to Gen. Eugenio Martinez, commander-in-chief on the Vera Cruz forces, by Gen. Fausto Topete, Federal commander at Tehuacan, news dispatches from Gen. Martinez's headquarters at Puebla stated.

Gen. Higinio Topete is holding San Andreas Chalchicomula, with 600 men, Gen. Jose Villanueva garrisoning Perote with 600 and 300 revolutionaries are stationed at Orientals, while very small garrisons have been left at Orizaba, Cordoba and Vera Cruz.

Quoting refugees from Vera Cruz, Topete added that rebel morale has reached its lowest ebb, revolutionary funds are exhausted, heavy exactions are being made on Vera Cruz business houses, and industry and commerce at Vera Cruz are at a standstill.

FEDERALS WELCOMED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EL PASO, Jan. 2.—Inhabitants of the area from which rebel forces are retreating from the advance of Gen. Joaquin Amaro in his offensive toward Guadalajara, are showing much enthusiasm at the arrival of the Federal troops, passengers arriving in Juarez from the interior of Mexico declare.

Gen. Amaro has approximately 3000 troops and is pressing relentlessly upon Gen. Enrique Estrada, who is in command of the rebels in Jalisco State, those arriving declare. They expect the evacuation of Guadalajara within the next few days due to the efforts of the Obregon forces personally directed by the Chief Executive from his private car at Irapuato, Guanajuato.

Advance of the Federals is being hindered by torn rails and burned bridges, and these are being repaired with all possible speed, it is said. Rebels are massing for a battle at Poncitlan.

REBELS CLAIM VICTORY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The retirement of Mexican Federal forces from Tehuacan was announced in a telegram received here today from revolutionary headquarters in Vera Cruz. The message said:

"Notwithstanding the efforts that were made to entice forces of the imposition into a trap prepared for them between three attacking columns, in pursuance of a strategic plan of Generals Sanchez and Maycotte, they could not be made to advance any further than Tehuacan for three days. When they were apprised of our enveloping movement they took hasty flight, abandoning Tehuacan and reconcentrating in Puebla.

"Our forces also shamefully defeated the column of Generals Almazan and Topete in the neighborhood of Tecamachaloo.

"Revolutionary columns are preparing to advance against Puebla. Gen. Villanueva Garza, at the head of his column, is marching directly toward Mexico City."

is feared. Crafton, Greenspot, Byron Mayr all reported extremely low temperatures with short duration, Crafton reporting the lowest mark with 21 shortly before 6 a.m.

Highland temperature dropped as low as 23 on two occasions, figured on a recording thermometer on the George Thompson ranch on North Palm avenue disclosed. Other sections of the Highland district reported temperature of 25.

WIND SAVES POMONA CROP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Jan. 2.—A very slight fluctuating wind in addition to thousands of orchard heaters flaming full blast saved citrus growers in the Pomona Valley thousands of dollars last night when the thermometer dropped as low as 23 degrees above zero in a few spots, while the general average throughout the district was between 24 and 28 degrees. Had the wind died down altogether the citrus crop would have suffered a very damaging freeze. In many cases pots were lighted as early as 9 last evening and kept going all night.

Exchange officials today announced that damage was slight and only young lemons were hit by the frost.

Floyd Young, local government weather observer, stated this afternoon that tonight and tomorrow morning would be as cold as last night and as a result, citrus growers were hauling tanks of oil and refilling pots throughout the day for another long siege tonight.

Night riders on motorcycles and in autos will patrol throughout the district again tonight.

PEPPER VINES KILLED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Jan. 2.—Lowering temperatures, noticeable shortly after sundown today, caused ranchers to fill their smudgepots in event the danger mark is reached in Orange county before morning. Few were prepared to start the "black smoke" shortly before midnight last night, when the mercury was descending rapidly, but a stiff breeze, arising shortly before midnight, dispelled the danger.

Most points in Orange county reported temperatures ranging from 33 to 35 degrees, though La Habra, in the extreme northern section of the county, was the coldest spot, with 30 degrees.

No damage was reported from citrus fruit growers, though all chili pepper vines of the county have been killed. The bulk of the latter crop was harvested two weeks ago, C. C. Cornett, manager of the California Packing Corporation's plant here, stated.

RIVERSIDE PREPARES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 2.—The fact that a strong north wind blew through the Cajon Pass and the Santa Ana Canyon last night prevented citrus damage from frost, according to reports made today to Horticultural Commissioner A. E. Bottel. The minimum temperature reported was 30 deg. and this only for a short period not deemed long enough by citros growers to damage the crop.

Some smudging was done in the Corona district early last night and late this morning when the wind dropped for a time. With absolutely no wind tonight the forecast indicated dangerously low temperatures before midnight and the weather forecaster advised smudging unless the wind should come up later.

COLDEST SINCE 1918

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PASADENA, Jan. 2.—Pasadena today experienced the coldest spell since January of 1913, the year of the big Southern California freeze, when the temperature dropped to 26 deg., according to M. S. Jones, special meteorological observer of this city. At 6 a.m. the thermometer registered the lowest and ice formed on standing water throughout the city.

Fruit growers of this city and Sierra Madre used their oil smudge pots during the coldest hours this morning and it is believed that little or no damage was done to the citrus industry in this seition. According to officials of the Sierra Madre-Lamanda Citrus Association a change in the wind velocity prevented the mercury from lurking at the minimum for any great length of time. According to Mr. Jones cold weather will be continued.

NINETEEN AT FRESNO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Jan. 2.—A killing frost for tomorrow morning was predicted today by W. E. Bonnett, forecaster for the United States Weather Bureau here, following a temperature of 19 degrees last night that equaled the minimum record for the season established on the night of December 11, last. General reports to the Weather Bureau indicated that the central part of the San Joaquin Valley experienced a minimum as low as that of Fresno, with 19 degrees reported at Merced and Lindsay, 21 at Bakersfield and 22 at Porterville. It was stated, however, that the low temperature created no new situation in the fruit district, as equally low temperatures occurred some weeks ago.

ANAHEIM EXPECTS DROP

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, Jan. 2.—Anaheim citrus growers continued their watch over groves in this section as the temperature, which reached 34 degrees Tuesday night, was expected to drop again tonight. Clear weather continued in this district throughout the day and the absence of winds makes the conditions even more dangerous for the fruit crop. There has been no damage to groves here this winter, although several heavy frosts have occurred.

ORANGE COUNTY PREPARED

ORANGE, Jan. 2.—Prepared to combat lowering temperatures, predicted for tonight and tomorrow morning, citrus growers residing in Orange, Villa Park, Olive, McPherson and West Orange, famed as a Valencia belt, today had armed their orchards with smudge pots which are being held in readiness in event the mercury starts crawling down to the danger point.

With a cloudless sky overhead and a tang in the air, tempered somewhat by a slight breeze, growers, generally, feared that sundown might bring a perceptible drop in the mercury.

Although ice formed over water puddles in secluded spots robbed of sunlight, citrus orchards in this district escaped untouched by the cold wave that swept the district last night.

FOURTEEN AT HANFORD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD (Cal.) Jan. 2.—Last night was one of the coldest nights ever experienced in this city, the thermometer going down to 14 degrees above here. The lowest ever reported here was 8 degrees above. Hydrants froze and ice was formed on water inside of houses. No damage was done to crops, as all were harvested, but such cold weather here is hard on cattle and sheep on the range. The light rain that fell here Christmas Eve was succeeded by a cold wind from the north, resulting in excessively low temperature.

POTS ARE LIGHTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MONROVIA, Jan. 2.—Duarte and Monrovia ranchers this morning reported no damage to the local citrus crop. Tonight the smudge pots were lighted nearly all of which were lighted last night.

Minimum temperatures, which lasted only a short time, were 27 and 26 deg.

IMPERIAL DAMAGE LIGHT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, Jan. 2.—Only light damage to Imperial Valley crops had been reported to the office of Horticultural Commissioner B. A. Harrigan today as the result of a light frost early this morning.

The commissioner, after a survey of the valley, said that he did not believe the frost did any harm further than to nip a few grapefruit trees of the younger growth, where they had not been properly covered. He issued a warning today, however, to all owners of young grapefruit orchards to wrap the tree trunks with burlap or straw to prepare for the frost predicted by the United States Weather Bureau.

VENTURA HARD HIT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, Jan. 2. — Ventura county experienced lowest temperature in many years Tuesday night, citrus orchards in outlying sections suffering severe damage. Smudging, resorted to in Santa Paula, Sespe, Ventura avenue and Ojai section, probably saved the trees and bulk of the crop. Oil fires burned all night. The lowest temperature recorded in Ventura vicinity was 23 deg. In Ojai Valley the thermometer dropped to 18 deg., and the orange crop was seriously damaged, where oil burning could not be done. The great Limoneira ranch saved practically its entire crop by smudging. The temperature there was not below 25 deg.

WHITTIER POTS LIGHTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WHITTIER, Jan. 2.—At North Whittier Heights, Rivera and East Whittier the lowest temperature during the past twenty-four hours was 24 deg. for a short time. Clouds of smoke from the smudge pots and gales of wind from frost defying machines were employed to keep away the frost. Slight damage is reported. Energetic precautions for fighting frost tonight were carried out. Leffingwell ranch has 6000 smudge pots in operation.

ONTARIO SUFFERS LITTLE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Jan. 2.—With a minimum temperature of 27 deg. registered at the government station today little or no damage was believed to have been wrought in the orange groves of Ontario and vicinity by last night's temperature drop according to H. E. Swan, president of the Ontario citrus fruit association.

Reports from Upland where there was less breeze showed lower temperatures, one rancher reporting 22.

NO DAMAGE AT REDLANDS

REDLANDS, Jan. 2.—No commercial damage was done to the citrus crop in the Redlands district by the cold snap this morning. J. W. Arnold, in charge of the frost protection service of the United States Weather Bureau for the district, says that the wind which maintained all night until about 4 o'clock this morning saved the fruit today. Heating pots were not lighted until between 3 and 4 o'clock here and the low temperature of 25 was for but a short time, the mercury being below 26 for just about an hour.

LEMONS SUFFER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 2.—With the thermometer registering as low as 23 degs. in citrus groves this morning much damage was reported to lemon crops of this vicinity. Smudging is almost unknown in this county and the few growers who had their stoves, used them to advantage. The greatest damage was reported in orchards of Goleta and Carpinteria. No accurate estimate of damage caused by freezing temperature could be obtained today, out one grower reports 75 per cent damage to lemons. It is believed by county inspectors, however, that this figure will be cut when check is made and that the loss will not be more than 10 per cent or $100,000.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CORONA, Jan. 2.—The temperature went down to 29 in the citrus district here today, but smudging prevented frost damage, growers said.

FROST PREDICTED

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 2.—Light to heavy frosts are predicted for the early hours tomorrow morning, with probability of lower temperatures than were recorded last night when a somewhat unexpected cold spell sent the thermometer down to 39 degs. in San Diego. The lowest temperature recorded in the county last night was 26 degs. at Escondido.

County Farm Bureau officials said no damage resulted to citrus groves last night and that only in isolated instances would smudging be employed in the event of heavy frost.

Thirty degs. was recorded last night at El Cajon and 31 degs. at Bonita. Mountains within forty miles of San Diego are covered with snow.

Snow and Cold Foil Climb to Peak of Shasta

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SISSON, Jan. 2.—Terrific snowstorms and a temperature of 15 deg. below zero have frustrated the attempts of Joseph A. Street and Michael F. O'Brien of San Francisco and W. Crockett of Alameda, expert mountaineers, to scale the summit of Mt. Shasta in the depth of winter. Two efforts to reach the top, 14,161 feet above sea level, Monday and Tuesday failed, although O'Brien reached a point only 100 feet below the summit.

Exhausted by their long climb in the deep snows, during which they faced blinding snow and hail, the three explorers returned to Sisson late today. The peak of Shasta has never been surmounted in winter.

COLD BRINGS FIRES

ut Out Residents and Cause Loss; Dead From Cold on Elevated

EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

Zero weather which struck Chicago Sunday bringing with it a twenty-four-hour record ccidents and one death. The death reported as that of Louis Puhlman, 52 years of age, was found dead on the elevated platform n avenues.

Police today had reports of seven persons injured, sprained ankles, scalp wounds and wrenched backs from falls on icy sidewalks and of three men with frozen feet.

HUNDREDS LOSE SHELTER

Most of the results of the cold snap, however, are found in the fire department records. Hundreds of persons were driven from their homes to the cold of the streets last night and early today by fires in all parts of the city and suburbs, and property valued at several hundreds of thousands of dollars was destroyed.

The fire department in twenty-four hours, since 9 a.m. yesterday, answered 125 alarms, ninety-one of which proved to be stubborn blazes. Most of the fires, according to Chief Buckley, started from overheated stovepipes and furnaces fired up since the cold wave hit the city.

Meanwhile the mercury in the thermometer bulbs crept slowly upward, and although snow was predicted for today and tomorrow, a general rising temperature also was promised. The temperature in South Chicago, unofficially, stood at 16 deg. above today, and at Ragan Park, 10 deg.

Austin was warmest with 20, and in the Loop it was 11.

Information outside the walls of the prison is meager, but no new breaks by prisoners are known to have been attempted and no casualties are reported.

SUIT HOLDS UP STATE SALARIES

Breed Law Appeal Hits Hundreds of Workers

Ruling on Traffic Squad Results in Tie-up

Fate of Several Other Departments in Test

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—Salaries of State officials totaling $6246 are being held up by the State Controller's office pending the decision of the Third District Court of Appeal in the rehearing of the suit to test the constitutionality of the Breed law providing for the appointment of county traffic officers by the State Motor Vehicle Department.

In its original opinion the appellate court held that the appointment of traffic officers was an unlawful delegation of power and the ruling affected some 450 officers in other departments of the government.

The only way found to pay the huge majority of these officials was for the controller to stick to the executive budget and to pay those listed therein. About twenty officials are outside the budget.

Departments in which salaries of officers are being withheld pending the court ruling and the amounts are:

Department of education, normal and special schools, $1223.34; superintendent of public instruction, $50; fish and game commission, $1135; board of medical examiners, $300; insurance commissioner, $159; workmen's compensation insurance fund, $283.33; department of institutions, $315; railroad commission, $700; board of architecture, $35; department of public works, $250; industrial accident commission, $1000, and corporation department, $450.

WRIGLEY SAYS IT'S "NOT YET"

Commenting on widely circulated reports that he may withdraw his support of Senator Hiram Johnson's candidacy for the Republican nomination for President, William Wrigley, Jr., now at Catalina, announced yesterday that he has not yet decided to forsake the Johnson standard.

Asserting that he still may be counted among the Senator's backers, Mr. Wrigley said, however, that he will wholeheartedly support President Coolidge in the event of the President's nomination.

"I know Mr. Coolidge well," said Mr. Wrigley, "and I like him. He is a fine man."

Reports have been general for more than a week here and in the East that Mr. Wrigley and other important figures in the Johnson camp might find it impossible to follow the Senator in some of the issues and propositions he is said to have decided to espouse.

In view of this situation, the comment of Mr. Wrigley that he has "not yet" decided to part political company with Mr. Johnson may have more than ordinary significance. It is believed that a break in the Johnson line-up may occur following a speech which the Senator is scheduled to deliver in Cleveland today.

SEIZED RUM CRAFT SOLD

Dozen Battle-Scarred Vessels Auctioned Off for $5982 in New York

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—"Dead Man's Basin," at the Battery, the government's internment harbor for captured rum craft, was emptied today during an auction, attended by 500 men and two women, in which twelve bullet scarred smugglers of holiday liquor were knocked down for $5982.

The auctioned craft were a motley fleet. Some were former pleasure cruisers, trim and staunch, but crying for paint. Others were wide-waisted fish boats converted into rum carriers by the installation of powerful engines. There were a few of the "K" type of speed craft built especially for running the rum patrol blockade, with hydroplane keels and twin airplane motors.

SHIPS GO BEGGING

Federal men estimated the vessels had cost upward of $50,000 to build. The Flying Dutchman, alias Susie, one of the fastest smugglers in the business and yet one of the most frequent occupants of "Dead Man's Basin," carried off honors, bringing $1175 under the hammer. She was a forty-foot cabin speeder with a capacity of 200 cases.

Bidders came from all the nearby coast towns known as landing points for rum row liquor.

WOMEN PRESENT

The two women, middle-aged and plainly dressed, leaped from boat to boat, comparing catalogues and inspecting hulls and engines. They did little bidding and their limit was low.

Sales were for cash.

NEW ATTACK ON G.O.P. PLANNED

ator Smoot pointed out that the Teapot Dome inquiry ordered by the Senate following charges by Senator LaFollette, has already cost more than $150,000.

One of the proposed inquiries is that asked in a resolution offered by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, who charges the existence of a widespread propaganda in behalf of the Mellon tax plan and against the soldiers' bonus.

Another important inquiry will be directed toward the question of Russian recognition. This may resolve itself largely into an investigation of the State Department and the Department of Justice. Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, proposed this investigation and Senator Lodge, Republican, Massachusetts, Republican leader, has promised to have it conducted through the Foreign Relations Committee.

GRILL FOR WOOD

Representatives Frear, Republican, Wisconsin, has a resolution to investigate the Wood administration in the Philippines and this measure may be broadened to include the financial operations of Gen. Wood's sons. The Senate Privileges and Elections Committee will investigate the political influence of the Ku Klux Klan through the Mayfield case.

John Barleycorn may be the subject of several other inquiries. Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, wants to investigate the Anti-Saloon League and the Association Opposed to Prohibition wants to be included in the inquiry.

Representative Davis, Democrat, Tennessee, proposes an investigation of diplomatic liquor in Washington. Others will try to have Prohibition Commissioner Haynes's administration investigated.

The Bureau of Efficiency, the Internal Revenue Bureau, the civil service, the alien property custodian's office, the Shipping Board and the Farm Loan Board are also included in the list of governmental bodies listed for investigation.

READY FOR WORK

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Congress will come back tomorrow from its Christmas recess ready to begin the serious work of the sessions.

With committees of both the House and Senate organized, the way is cleared for Republican leaders to press for enactment of legislation recommended by President Coolidge in his first annual message. They will seek to wind up in time for adjournment just before the Republican national convention meets five months hence.

While the Senate still is deadlocked over the election of a chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, majority leaders are hopeful that this problem will be solved one way or another within a few days. Balloting for a chairman will be resumed tomorrow with little prospect of a decision, but there appears to be a growing sentiment in favor of permitting the committee to function without the formal election of a chairman.

The first important measures to come before the House will be the annual appropriation bills on which subcommittees have been working. Until the first of these is ready early next week, the House will mark time during prepared speeches by members.

Among those to be delivered tomorrow will be one by Representative Treadway, Republican, of Massachusetts, on the anthracite situation; another by Representative Upshaw, Democrat, of Georgia, on "the majesty of the law, and national sobriety" and a third by Pedro Guevara, the new resident Philippine commissioner, who will discuss Philippine independence.

In consideration of tax legislation, the most important question that will come before Congress at the session, will be resumed tomorrow by the House Ways and Means Committee, which has agreed on a program of studying administrative provisions of the Mellon bill before acting on the soldiers' bonus or rate schedules in the revenue bill. Committee members said another ten days or two weeks would be required to complete consideration of the administrative features.

MOVE FOR BONUS

Meantime Republican members of the House who are former service men, expect to force the bonus issue. They are circulating a petition for a Republican party conference on the 10th inst. with a view to having the majority membership instruct the Ways and Means Committee to report the bonus bill ahead of the tax revision measure.

Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee at a conference today in which Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the minority leader, participated discussed the tax question in a general way. Views as to policy were expressed, but no decision as to a minority program was agreed upon.

Thus far there has been no call for a meeting of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, which handles railroad legislation, although Chairman Winslow said today the committee probably would get together next week.

A wide range of bills for the amendment of the transportation act have been referred to this committee.

LOAN ACCEPTED FOR RAILROAD

Denver and Rio Grande Has Money for Interest

Holders of Junior Mortgage Supply Funds

Act Prevents Foreclosure on Senior Bonds

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DENVER, Jan. 2. — Financial difficulties of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad were partly overcome here today when Federal Judge J. Foster Symes accepted on behalf of the receivership of the road a loan of $1,500,000 to be used in paying interest due on underlying bonds of the railroad.

The loan, it is understood, was made by persons interested in the junior bonds of the railroad which aggregate $40,000,000. Senior bonds on which interest was due amount to about $81,000,000. The loan is said to have been made by holders of the junior bonds in order to forestall any possibility of foreclosure of the road through default in the payment of interest on the underlying bonds.

APPROVAL IN DOUBT

The court order of the acceptance of the loans provides that if the loan negotiations are approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission, receivers' certificates will be issued in return for the money, but that if the commission does not approve, it will constitute only a receivers' debt.

The Western Pacific and the Missouri Pacific are said to hold approximately $8,000,000 in second mortgages of the Rio Grande Road.

Action of Judge Symes in allowing acceptance of the loan also will enable the road to pay other interest falling due between now and June 1, it was said.

FUND ADVANTAGEOUS

In commenting on the order Judge Symes explained that the loan will enable the road to proceed under receivership plans with the rehabilitation program involving approximately $16,000,000, without drawing on resources set aside for that purpose only.

Acceptance of the loan will have no bearing whatever on the proposed plan of refinancing the road, which was approved recently by the Interstate Commerce Commission, Judge Symes said. The plan is opposed by the State of Colorado as well as Judge Symes.

ARIZONA WANTS STOCK RATE CUT

Cattle Freight to California Called Too High

Railroad Sues Power Firm on Asserted Overcharges

Permission Asked by Santa Fe to Abandon Track

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Jan. 2. — At the State Capitol next Wednesday will be conducted an Interstate Commerce Commission hearing of an application by the Arizona State Cattle Growers' Association for lower freight rates on live stock from Arizona to California points. About 85 per cent of Arizona's shipments of fat and feeder cattle go to California, mainly to Los Angeles, San Francisco or the San Joaquin Valley. Only 15 per cent of the shipments to California are ready for the block on arrival.

The 16th inst., will be heard a complaint on fuel oil rail rates filed by the Globe Light and Power Company against the Arizona Eastern Railroad Company, with payment of $1500 asked for alleged overcharges in the past. It is stated that a degree of confusion exists in the rail tariffs on oil.

On the 4th inst., the Arizona State Corporation Commission will hear a Santa Fe case in which permission is asked for abandonment of a twelve-mile stretch of mountain track between Middleton and Crown King, Yavapai county. Once-a-week traffic now is maintained. The railroad will be represented by B. Levy of San Francisco, of the freight department, and E. W. Camp of Los Angeles, general attorney for the company.

Authority has been given by the State Corporation Commission to the Tucson, Cornelia and Gila Bend Railroad Company to issue and sell $400,000 more capital stock. The company, organized in 1918, has capital stock of $3,600,000, of which $850,000 has been issued, for the cost of constructing forty-three miles of broad-gauge railroad. The corporation has no indebtedness, though given permission a number of years ago to issue mortgage bonds to the amount of $675,000. The new stock issue is to be used in the purchase of needed rolling stock.

ASKS PUBLIC WORK PLANS IN ADVANCE

Judge Kenyon Believes Unemployment Could be Controlled Largely

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa is here urging the immediate adoption of a Federal program for long-time advance planning of public works. In a discussion on stabilizing employment at a meeting of the American Association for Labor Legislation here Judge Kenyon said:

"When I was in the Senate, President Harding desired to expedite Federal public works during the unemployment period in order to give employment when most needed. The effort largely failed because it takes time to prepare emergency plans and to pass appropriations. The only practical way is to outline Federal public works programs and appropriations for several years in advance. Then the government, by going slowly during booms, will not raise prices still further and will avoid competing with private business for the same men and materials. During periods of depression it would be able to expedite its necessary public works as could not be done in 1921, and thus assist in stabilizing business and employment.

"This policy is sound economically because it will result in building a less volume at high prices and a larger volume at low prices. It would, therefore, afford an opportunity for tax reduction as against the greater cost of the present method of doing public work regardless of the business circle."

POLITICAL AGREEMENT IN ENGLAND DELAYED

NO ACTION TAKEN DESPITE PARLIAMENT IS TO MEET NEXT WEEK

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Jan. 2.—None of the principal leaders of the three political parties is showing undue haste to anticipate the course of events when Parliament reassembles a week hence. The present Cabinet must draft the King's speech for the reopening of Parliament, but thus far Premier Baldwin has not even summoned a Cabinet Council to consider the speech, which seemed to point to the probability that the royal document may be a somewhat colorless affair.

While it virtually will be impossible to carry on the government without some sort of understanding between two of the three principal parties, there is little evidence that the movement among financial men of London to bring about such an understanding in order to prevent the coming into power of a labor government has any strong following.

That any real alarm has been created in the minds of capital by the prospect of a labor government seems to be negatived by the fact that there has been no strong movement in stock share prices since the general elections, and this steadiness is due to the realization that a labor administration under present conditions would be an administration supported by only a minority of the members of Parliament, and, therefore, would be unable to enact any extreme legislation.

PORTERVILLE CROPS SERIOUSLY DAMAGED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 2. — The coldest weather since 1913, experienced last night and today in Porterville, has caused serious damage to the lemon crop, one of the best in recent years, and damage to other citrus fruits. Many of the navel oranges remaining on the trees were spoiled, but orchardists declare there is still hope for the Valencia crop by persistent smudging. The thermometer went down to 17 deg. above zero in some sections of Tulare county, many radiators were broken, water pipes were frozen, milk bottles left on doorsteps were frosen solid, and even at noon today there was ice in shaded places. Another killing frost is predicted.

SAGEHENS ARE INVITED TO MEET BEARS ON BERKELEY GRID OCTOBER 11

POMONA SPORT COUNCIL LIKELY TO ACCEPT DATE

Coach Nixon Favors Football Tilt With Bruins; Sagehen-Trojan Game Not Yet Arranged

BY BRAVEN DYER

Pomona College, six times football champion of the Southern California Intercollegiate Conference in the last seven years, has been invited to play the University of California team at Berkeley October 11. The invitation was issued to the Claremont institution by R. W. "Curley" Cortelyou, football manager for California, who has been in Southern California for the past week or so lining up contests for the Golden Bears. In all probability the Sagehens will accept the date.

Coach Eugene Nixon, who is also head of the athletic department at Pomona, was unable to state definitely that his team would play California, mainly because the matter must first go through the heads of the college athletic council. The Sagehen mentor's wishes in the case carry a lot of weight, however, and it is felt that it will only be a matter of form for the council to sanction the game.

Pomona, during the past two years has played U.S.C. at the end of the season, the game in 1923 coming on October 6. As yet no contract has been signed for a game this year, and it is not known if the Trojans will include the Sagehens on their list, and, although unofficial announcements from U.S.C. have indicated that Pomona is to occupy the Saturday of October 4, there is nothing definite about the date.

Should the Claremont team be asked to play the Trojans, a contract will probably be signed, Coach Nixon feeling that his eleven next year will be strong enough to play at least two tough games at the start of the year.

The Sagehen mentor has long been strong for a hard game at the beginning of the season, feeling that it keeps his men much football-wise, as he has generally desired a rest of two weeks before the conference schedule opened up. If both the U.S.C. and California bids are accepted, the Sagehens will have an open date at the start of the mid-season, as the schedule, which has not been drawn up yet, will undoubtedly call for Pomona playing Caltech on October 18.

Pomona and Caltech were tied for the championship last year, and in 1921 Whittier won the flag. Pomona copped first honors in '07, '14, '19, '20 and '22. Herb Mosey, Jim Carter and Rud Rose were the only regulars lost through graduation last year, so Coach Nixon will have a veteran team this fall.

BASKETEERS MEET

There will be a meeting tonight at 7:30 of the Southern California basketball officials association at the Y.M.C.A. Matters in connection with the coming basketball season will be discussed.

U.S.C. Cagers in Easy Game With Bankers

The holiday period evidently put a lot of ginger into the U.S.C. basketball team for the Trojans came back from their vacation last night and bowled over the California Bank quintet by the score of 45 to 7. It wasn't a great game, however, for the Bankers failed to show much class.

Cot Rice and Boyer enjoyed a profitable evening at goal shooting, garnering 16 points each. Gordon Campbell and Ben Gerpheide, regulars, were not on hand last night. Johnny Hawkins appeared at center for the Trojans. Score at half time was 17 to 1.

Saturday evening the U.S.C. team will play the Hollywood Y.M.C.A. outfit.

The line-ups:

U.S.C. (45.)		California Bank (7)
Boyer (16)	F.	Brennan
Wignard (7)	F.	Flint (2)
Hawkins	C.	Campbell (2)
Barsky (3)	G.	Chamberlain
Rice (19)	G.	Lee

Substitutions: U.S.C.—Ross (2), Pryor, Salter, Bush—Krug.

CHINESE GRIDDERS IN CHAMP CONTEST

In yesterday's game Jimmy Mah, right halfback for Oakland, was a star. He completed the only forward pass of the game. There was considerable fumbling on both sides.

California Team Plays University of Redlands Quintet Tonight

BULLDOGS HOPE TO STOP BEARS

Three Star Veterans on Coach Cushman's Outfit

Northern Five Heavy Favorites Over Baptist Men

Were Semifinalists for Coast Title Last Year

Coach Earl Wight's University of California basketball team encounters a little stiff opposition this evening when the Golden Bears journeyed out to Redlands to take on the University of Redlands quintet. The men from Berkeley have already won two practice games during their two weeks' stay in the south, but the teams they were up against were only mediocre outfits. This evening's contest should give the Bears a good work-out, despite the fact that the Baptist can hardly hope to win.

When Redland's parted company with Louie Mellette last year, or rather Mellette parted company with the institution, going to Occidental, the Orange Belt university probably said good-by to the championship for this year. If Mellette had stayed on at Redlands, and Jensen had not quit school, the Baptists would have been well on their way to first honors.

THREE VETS BACK

As it is, Coach Cecil Cushman, the new Baptist mentor, falls heir to three corking good players in Capt. Don Thompson, Kenny Knights and Hosegood. All three are letter men from last year, Thompson and Knights having played for three years with the Maroon and Gray. Thompson plays center, but drops back to guard as soon as play is started, Hosegood coming up from his guard position to play the floor. Being a big fellow, Thompson makes an ideal guard, while Hosegood is tall and rangy and a good shot.

If Cushman's substitutes, or rather the remainder of his team, can play up to the standard set by these three men, the Bears will be given a good work out. Chief McGilbra, Maj. Belcher, Brown, Jeffers and Manning will probably get into the game with the first two named players likely to start.

MEET MR. TAIT

The Golden Bears have a veteran aggregation. Capt. Johnny Tait, All-Pacific Coast forward last year, is as sweet a goal shooter as there is in the West, and Houvenin, another regular from last year, is a good man. Both the centers, Higgins and Meacham, are new, but in Kincaid, Belasco and Kyte Coach Wight has three demon guards, the latter being a fine floor man. Kincaid plays standing guard and is pretty near adamant on the defense. There are thirteen men in the California party and most of them will see action tonight.

Last year the Bears came through with a great record, only missing out on the Coast championship in their final series with Idaho. Stanford was trimmed for California honors, and then the Bears went into the wilds of the North to meet the Vandals. Coach Wight's guys lost the first game, 28 to 20. On the following evening the Bears were a bit more at home, but lost out 29 to 25 after leading 15 to 11 at the end of the half. Tait converted 15 out of 18 free throws in this game.

VENICE BOUTS

In the boxing bouts at Venice last night Young George and Fred Cullen fought a slashing draw in the main event. Jack Ryshall and Sailor White, fighting in the semi-wind-up, also battled to a draw. De Luna and Young Santos were the finalists in the elimination bouts and these two boxers got nothing but a draw for their work. Joe Bentley knocked out Jack Curley in the first. Red Williams copped the decision over Bill Van and Billy Blake defeated Kid Small.

FARMER LODGE BATTLES FIRPO IN BUENOS AIRES NEXT MONTH

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 2.—Luis Angel Firpo announced today that Farmer Lodge, Minneapolis (Minn.) boxer, had agreed to come to Buenos Aires to meet him in a fifteen-round bout on February 10 for the Women's Charity Association. Lodge to receive $3000 and his traveling expenses. Firpo said Lodge was now on his way from the West to New York to catch the steamship Pan-American, sailing on January 5.

Firpo also announced that his match with the Italian champion, Erminio Spalla, will take place on the Buenos Aires football field on February 24 and will be of fifteen rounds. Firpo said he would receive 40 per cent of the gate receipts and Spalla a guaranteed amount which Firpo was unable to make public but is reported to be 200,000 lire.

After these two fights Firpo will sail for the United States on February 28.

OBSERVATIONS by the INNOCENT BYSTANDER

W.M.H.

The Navy football team at Pasadena used a very effective formation from which to launch their plays against Washington. It was a sort of punt formation with one player directly back of the center, approximately five yards back, another player a yard back of the line of scrimmage and slightly to the left of center and two players also a yard back of the line of scrimmage and to the right of the center.

Devens, the line plunging expert of the Middies, was always up close to the line of scrimmage and had a slick play where he took the ball direct from the center and plowed along behind the giant Carney for a sure yard or so. The other backs, Cullen, McKee, Shapley and Barchet, who replaced Shapley, all took turns at the rear position behind the center and from that position went off tackle, around the end, through the line, kicked or pulled any one of a half a dozen pass plays.

The play that caught nearly everybody's eye was the one that brought the Navy's second touchdown. Shapley was in the position directly behind the center and McKee at the left. The ball was passed to Shapley and McKee dashed across to the right, Shapley tossing the ball to him on the dead run behind the line of scrimmage. The defense was watching Shapley and McKee was so fast that they couldn't stop him.

MOLLA PASSES UP NORWAY

Mrs. Mallory Unable to Compete for Native Country if Not Allowed to Play for United States

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, former national women's tennis champion, will not compete for her native country, Norway, in event she is unable to represent America in the Olympic tennis events, it developed today in connection with a disclosure that international athletic authorities still have under consideration the question of her eligibility to play for the United States.

Several days ago Mrs. Mallory was quoted as saying she would compete for Norway if unable to represent this country, but today the former champion in effect denied the statements attributed to her. At the same time it was learned from an official Norwegian source that in order to represent Norway, as she did in the 1912 Olympics, Mrs. Malory would be obliged to renounce the American citizenship she acquired by marriage to Franklin I. Mallory, New York broker. This, it was understood, she does not intend to do.

Mrs. Mallory refused to discuss the question, asserting she had not considered the situation, but when pressed as to her reported announcement, she declared:

"I have had nothing to say about it at all; I never give interviews."

Julian S. Myrick, former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, who is in charge of America's Olympic representation, declared it was his understanding that Mrs. Mallory could not compete for Norway because of her American citizenship.

He added that there was a possibility means would be found to set aside in her case operation of the Olympic rule which now prevents a performer who had represented one country from contesting for another nation.

The international women's team, which will compete for the Wightman cup with English players, probably June 20 and 21 at Wimbledon, probably will be composed of Miss Helen Wills, present national champion; Mrs. Mallory, Miss Eleanor Goss and Mrs. George W. Wightman, according to Mr. Myrick. These four players won the Wightman cup at Forest Hills last season, making a clean sweep of the matches with British women.

SEAL REGULARS TO BE ON HAND EARLY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—Assembling the players of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League will not involve much travel this year, since most of them are wintering in or near the city.

Pat Shea, star twirler, formerly of the major leagues, was a recent arrival from Holyoke, Mass., and is keeping in trim with golf sticks. Paul Waner, outfielder, is expected by the end of the month. Only three or four regulars are likely to be absent until training begins at Boyes Springs.

Helen Wills May Invade French Courts

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Miss Helen Wills, California's 18-year-old tennis star, who last summer surprised the world by taking the women's tennis championship from Mrs. Molla Mallory, may be a member of the American Olympic tennis team in France. Only one thing will stand between her and the trip—her parents' consent. And by way of securing that, the wonder player of the Golden State will be invited to go as the leading American woman player.

The foregoing information was made public here today by Julian S. Myrick, former president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, who still has a voice in the affairs of the organization.

Should the girl's parents permit her to make the trip abroad, Miss Wills will be invited to play with the American team in defense of the Wightman cup, which she assisted in winning at Forest Hills. She would also be invited to play at Wimbledon this coming summer in the British national women's championship matches.

HUSKIES TAKE LION'S SHARE

Washington Goes Home With $60,000 of Receipts

Navy's Bungling Cuts Down Middies' Gate Share

Rose Tournament Members Suffer $15,000 Deficit

POSTSCRIPT

At midnight last night Darwin Meisnest, graduate manager of the University of Washington, breathlessly declared after reading the following article that some 4000 football tickets were left on his hands and that $48,000 and not $60,000 represents the "boodle" which he will carry north.

BY BILL HENRY

It develops that there really was a winner at the Tournament of Roses football game January 1, same being the University of Washington which, thanks to the astute management of young Mr. Darwin Meisnest, goes home with some $60,000 of the gate receipts. The Huskies were thus the only survivors of the financial scramble into which the game was thrown to emerge with more than they originally hoped to get.

Both the Navy and Washington had agreed originally to accept $45,000 as their shares of the gate receipts of the game. This would have left the Tournament of Roses with enough money to finance their Rose Tournament and about $50,000 to apply on the mortgage on their new stadium.

When the Pacific Coast Conference insisted that the teams participating in the contest should have the actual management and the Navy refused to play except under their conditions, the contracts with the Rose Tournament were thrown overboard and a new arrangement made whereby each team took 20,000 seats at $3 each and gave the remainder, amount-

Hoppe to Hurl Challenge at Three-Cushion Cue King

CHAMP'S DEFI CAUSES LAUGH

Stars of Three-Cushion Play Are Not Worrying

Hoppe Has Ignored Challenges of Most of Them

Augie Kieckhefer Anxious to Take on Artist

BY JOE DAVIS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Word from New York that Willie Hoppe, the international balkline champion, is to hurl a defi at the winner of the National Championship Three-Cushion League will not cause any of the leading angle experts to duck for cover.

Several of them have been anxious to meet Hoppe, and at various times have made definite challenges, all of which came to naught.

AUGIE SEEKS MATCH

Among those anxious to cross cues with the champion is Augie Kieckhefer, the local southpaw and former three-cushion champion.

Augie said today that irrespective of the outcome of the three-cushion league championship he is willing to meet Hoppe in a three-cushion match for a reasonable stake and a division of the gate or winner take all.

Under their contracts with the league the players cannot engage in special matches without the consent of the league. The players in the league also might object to an outsider having a chance to win the championship by getting priority in the matter of challenging the winner.

ALL WILLING

If it were left to the player who wins the league championship there is no doubt the winner, whether it be Cannefax, Layton, Kessler, Ellis, Cipulos, Kieckhefer or Denton, will be willing to tackle Hoppe.

rounds of boxing, skipping and bag-punching under a boiling sun and when somebody asked Mieke what he thought of Tommy he said "I just wish I could get in that good shape myself."

Mieke probably at that time realized that the ravages of Bright's disease had permanently impaired his health. Mieke was one of those ring unfortunates whose only stock in trade was a rugged constitution and a fine determination. He had no defense and couldn't hit in proportion to his size, but, certainly could take 'em. He fought Dempsey several times and many believe that the terrible body beating he took from the champion weakened him and made him susceptible to the disease which finally proved fatal.

Basketball is on us again, and with the California team and the Oregon Aggies playing down here as visiting teams the season should get off to a flying start. There are several new organizations in the South which seem to have unusually strong teams and they should make things interesting for the Larry Semon and Los Angeles Athletic Club fives which have been sweeping things for the last couple of years.

Everybody will be rather delighted to see Young Stribling making good in the ring back East just for the fun of seeing a little new blood once in a while. This youngster evidently has some class for Dave Rosenberg, whom he decisively whipped the other night, was good enough to be named world's middleweight champion by the New York Boxing Commission when they had a "mad on" at Johnny Wilson. If Stribling isn't rushed along too fast he stands a good chance of making a lot of money one of these days.

Ice Skating

What is the secret of successful plain and fancy springboard ice skating?

For years professor of ice skating at the University of Southern California, later with the Snoppyquop Ice Company, Chicago. Sweeper-off of the ice at the New York Hippodrome, 1916. Professional skating champion, 1917. Amateur champion, 1919. Winner of the solid leather skates derby, 1921, and holder of the world's record for plunge for distance on ice. Author of "The Ice and How to Break It," "Why Hard Water Makes the Best Ice," etc., etc.

I don't like to talk about myself, but the secret of my success as an ice skater lies wholly in my own ingenuity. Who else but Cornelius L. Vez would think of holding a powerful magnet out in front of his skates to draw him forward over the ice without any physical effort? Who else but a genius like myself would take the name of Cornelius L. Vez, which just fits the only initials I can carve on the ice, and which has for its surname the name of our champion three-year-old racehorse spelled backward? Do I make myself plain? No, I was born that way.

ing to 12,000 seats, to the Tournament for rental.

LARGE DEFICIT

Inasmuch as the Rose Tournament through their permanent seat arrangements had to give away some 9000 of these seats, they were left with something like $9000 in cash as their share of the receipts of the game. They had already spent $6000 for a big Buffalo fence around the stadium and had guaranteed some $18,000 of additional expense so that they emerged from the fracas some $15,000 in a hole and nothing paid on the $150,000 mortgage.

The big joke of the whole affair seems to be on the Navy, as it was the Naval Academy officials who precipitated the whole mess by first of all refusing to stand by their contract with the Tournament of Roses. The Navy people bungled their end of the ticket sale and were left high and dry with something like 7000 unsold seats. The Navy goes home with only $38,000, whereas if they had stuck by their contract they would have been $7000 better off.

All the talk around town in the wake of the game seems to consist in wonderment regarding the outcome of the contest if California had represented the West instead of Washington. Nearly everybody seems to think that the Bears would have fared no better than did the Huskies, as the latter were admittedly extremely fortunate to get a tie score.

FORMATIONS EFFECTIVE

They point to the fact that California proved an easy mark for the aerial attack of the University of Southern California down here and the Trojan offense never was in the same class with that of the Middies. The magnificent execution of a great variety of good plays featured the Navy's efforts. The embryo admirals in their twenty attempts at passes sixteen of which were successful, used at least half a dozen different formations, all of which were effective.

Loud anoring was the business of the day over in Pasadena. The players and their various rooting sections both took part in banquets at the Pasadena hotels last night and didn't hit the Ostermoor until the early hours of the morning. The only two injured players, Shapley of the Navy and Teseau of Washington, were reported as resting easily.

JACK DEMPSEY IS ON WAY TO FLORIDA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Champion Jack Dempsey left today for Jacksonville, Fla., on the steamship Comanche. He will arrive there Friday.

Dispatches reaching here from the Florida city say scores of Jacksonville's leading citizens are planning to give him a rousing reception when the liner arrives.

Jacksonville is anxious that the champion establish permanent winter training quarters there rather than in Los Angeles, and it is said alluring offers will be made to the Utah mauler to sever the connection with the western metropolis.

There are twenty baseball teams in two leagues in Mexico.

M'GINN HITS BACK HARD

Culver City Horse Owner Annexes Three Horses in Claiming War; Zanier Wins Feature

BY ED O'MALLEY

The claiming race snarl is waxing jazzy at the Culver City track. J. B. McGinn, who had three of his best horses claimed from him in the last few days got back at his tormentors yesterday when he turned a loving eye toward The Chamberlain in the fifth race and smiled "just hoof yourself over to my aristocratic quarters."

It cost McGinn just 700 simoleons to annex The Chamberlain, but the genial horseman declared the son of Ballot-Mrs. Sewall was well worth the money. In the fourth race McGinn also switched Evening Stories to his stables for $1200.

In the first race a mare named Dowry, which has just arrived from the dear old Crescent City, engaged the attention of J. D. Rice when she stretched her sylphide limbs in the paddock. In the race Rice had Merry Lass which finished second. Owner Bechtelheimer hated to lose his Dowry but the $600 snugly tucked away in a sealed envelope that had been handed to Presiding Judge Smith gave Rice the right to make the transfer.

MAKES A HIT

Secretary Finn made a hit with the regulars yesterday when his card in the fousth race, a dash of five furlongs, bought eight of the best sprinters at the course together. The winner turned upin Zanier one of the most consistent performers at the speedway. Zanier stood a sharp last sixteenth urging with rare gameness, standing off Maud Harvey's gallant bid in the closing strides. The lightweighted Horinga, badly outrun in the first half finished with a rattle under the clever pilotage of Jockey Creery. An eighth out almost the entire field was in a contending bunch and the sight was probably the most inspiring of the meeting thus far.

The sport has now run nine days. From a racing viewpoint, it has been high class in every particular. Presiding Judge E. C. Smith has kept an eagle eye on the fields at all times and any unfair tactics in the riding line have not escaped detection. In this line he has been materially assisted by Patrol Judge Finn whose station in the lookout chair is at the head of the stretch. In all cases of herding and rough riding in and around the bend for home, Smith has usually awaited the corroboration of the patrol Judge before taking decisive action.

The thoroughbred lovers of Los Angeles are probably not aware of the fact that the Culver City meeting has been conducted in every detail precisely as the meetings are conducted in and around Greater New York. Judge Smith has carefully carried out every detail that obtains in the East. The session of the runners thus far is the best ever seen in Southern California. The rest of the 100 day's meeting will be brought off in like manner, a fact that should give the pastime a great boost in Los Angeles.

A few horses were shipped from Tijuana yesterday. They will be given ample accommodations as soon as they arrive.

The fair sex will be admitted to the track free tomorrow.

Secretary Finn has dished up an excellent card of six races for this afternoon's sports. The fourth is at one and one-eighth miles, six of the best distance birds at the course being entered. The summaries follow:

First race, five furlongs—Laura James won; Merry Lass, second; Black Tea, third. Lass's Boy, Calour, Fandango, Miss Edna, Harry K., Triple and Dowry also ran. Steve and Mr. Krotor scratched. Time, 1:02.

Second race, five furlongs—Captions won; St. Pierre, second; China Jane, third. C. G. Duran, Emma Walter, George Kelly, Bitters, Miss Ruth L., Edna V., Lassiter and Joe Nugent also ran. Pokey B., Fancy Shot, Soul Star and Romaldo scratched. Time, 1:02 1-5.

Third race, one mile—Lone Pine won; Mr. X., second; Bill Sparks, third. Rhymer, Wayback, Topsnot and Dimock Wild also ran. Time, 1:43.

Fourth race, five furlongs—Zalaar won; Rhonda Harvey, second; Horinga, third. Do Land, Evening Stories, Dan Arvi, Zing and Aspvia also ran. Time, 1:01 2-5.

Fifth race, six furlongs—Black Cat won; The Chamberlain, second; Three K., third. Nanaja, Starlike, Hoskamera, Gina, Corbin Point, Wise Guy and Madrone also ran. Virgie K., scratched. Time, 1:15.

Sixth race, five furlongs—Pokey Jane won; Do Adell, second; Rudwart, third. Rosebaker, The Boy Favorite, Old Homestead, Dude Adams and Effie Randall also ran. Time, 1:02.

Fly Casters Plan Event at Malibou Lake

The semimonthly casting tournament of the Los Angeles Fly and Bait Casting Club will be held next Sunday at the Malibou Lake Club preserve in the Calabasas Mountains, Secretary P. K. Dugan announced today.

While there has not yet been rain enough this winter to fill the new lake, the water is deep enough and expansive enough to hold several tournaments. The events will include:

Fly-casting for distance, dry fly for accuracy, wet fly for accuracy, one-quarter ounce for distance, one-quarter ounce for accurancy, five-eighths ounce plug for accuracy, five-eights ounce plug for distance. Several exhibition events will be given, according to plans being arranged by the team captain, J. K. Luccarene.

Other officers of the club are: H. A. Richey, president, and E. J. Lesley, vice-president. A barbecue will be prepared for members following the tournament.

The president of the Malibou Lake Club, Bertram D. Lackey, won the annual tournament cup last year and he will be a competitor Sunday.

CORWIN HUESTON NOW ANGELENO

Another star in the field of sports is to claim Los Angeles as his home in the person of Corwin Hueston of Detroit, former national amateur 18.2 balkline billiard champion. Hueston came here for the winter, but is arranging his eastern business so that he can remain permanently.

While he has not sought a billiard title recently, Hueston's performance with the cue at Steven's Billiard Parlor shows that he is still able to give a good alcount of himself.

HANS WAGNER'S STORY

(Copyright, 1923, in United States and Great Britain, Cuba, Japan and South America by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

Chapter XXI

THERE WAS TEAMWORK IN THOSE DAYS

BY HANS WAGNER

[Copyright, 1923, in U. S. and Great Britain, Cuba, Japan and South America by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.]

Teamwork does not appear to me as good now as in the days of the old Baltimore Orioles, the Pirates of 1901-02-03, the Giants of 1905 and the Cubs. If you have followed baseball closely you probably have noticed that no real sentiment of greatness has been thrown around a club since the Frank Chance Cubs finally petered out.

That means to me that teamwork has lost prestige in the face of individual greatness of certain players. There is a mighty good reason for this.

In a previous article I showed where baseball has developed wonderfully despite what the old-timers say. In that very development the game has grown into such a great business that a certain group of players, working as a machine, can not stand out for a long time. The clubs are so much larger that the same men do not work together as often.

In the old days we were sometimes lucky enough to get together ten or twelve men who made a wonderful machine and stuck together. They had their whole heart set on winning and they overcame many difficulties that do not face ballplayers today. In other words, the machines do not have to be as perfect and compact now.

It has been but a few years that ball clubs have had trainers, rubbers, club doctors and all that. In our days it was largely up to each player to take care of himself. We sometimes went a whole season without getting a rubdown or massage. We were allowed to eat and train as we pleased and it was up to each man to make the best of it. To beat the game was more of an individual job.

It may sound funny for me to say it but I agree with men like Ed Barrow, John McGraw, Billy Murray, George Stallings and many others who think that baseball has developed entirely too much of what is called gentlemanly sportsmanship. That alone has changed baseball a lot.

NO PINK TEAS THEN

In the old days, for instance, the players did not meet at the plate and shake hands and then talk about social affairs. They were up there to fight to win and all friendship ceased the minute we got on the diamond. We looked upon all members of the opposition as enemies and knew they would take advantage of us at the slightest opportunity. Any kind of a trick was considered legitimate. There was none of that pleasant visiting to and from the benches. If a player came around our bench a few years ago the best he got was a razzing.

As a matter of fact I think the public likes that fighting spirit. That sportsmanship is all right in football and tennis, but in baseball the spectators want to see a scrap. They want to think that the two teams have it in for each other and will give no quarter.

The tendency toward sportsmanship has made players broader minded. They look upon a ball game as merely an afternoon's sport. In our days to give quarter or cede the slightest point was like giving up our life's blood. That is why the teams have lost their compactness.

I know it is high-minded and generous for players to be considerate of each other but, to save my life, I can't look on it as old-fashioned, scrapping baseball. We used to fight right on through with crippled legs, spike wounds and everything rather than get out of the game. Nowadays ball players are protected and cared for as if they were hothouse plants.

I've seen ball players take desperate chances in my day that would not be dreamed of now. Take Frank Bowerman, the old Giant catcher, for instance. He was a ball player who could take more physical punishment than any man I ever saw. Spike cuts and bumps on the head rolled off him like water off a duck's back.

One day at the old Exposition Park in Pittsburg when the Pirates and Giants were fighting for the championship back in 1905 and 1906, a foul fly was hit near the Pittsburg bench. Bowerman, who was catching, ran right into the Pirate bench and hit a 4x4 upright that held up one end of the roof of the bench. He came with such force that he broke up this big piece of timber and bounced back four feet. But he caught that foul ball. What's more, he never let on that the bump had even hurt him.

BOWERMAN BUTTS A BARREL

During another game in that same park the crowd had overflowed and was lined up around the plate and down the foul lines. Some one had brought out a barrel for a woman spectator to sit on. She was sitting there enjoying the game when another foul fly was hit. Bowerman started for it and ran slap into the barrel, knocking it over and upsetting the woman. Evidently he had not seen her at all. He was so sore at missing the foul that he kicked the big barrel about ten feet.

"Hey, Frank," Matty, who was pitching, yelled to him, "keep your head up!"

He couldn't make Bowerman understand, so Matty left the box, walked through the crowd, straightened up the barrel and lifted the woman on it. Then the game went on.

Bowerman never thought of getting hurt. Bounding a ball off him was like hitting an iron safe. He would start for a bunt the instant he saw the batter make a move as if to dump the ball. Sometimes the ball would hit him on the leg or on the bare hands and often he would run right into the bat. Even that did not feaze him. His sole idea was to get the jump on the bunted ball. Often he would make plays that otherwise would have given the pitcher and the third baseman trouble.

Bowerman would also take dangerous chances in touching base runners coming into the plate. He would slide into them head-first whether they were coming in spikes first or not. I have had several hard collisions with him. But I never saw him badly hurt. At any rate he would never let on.

Frank used to run over the bats, into the dugouts, into the stands or anywhere to get a foul ball. I often have wondered why he never got killed. But he is just as healthy and strong as ever. Bowerman runs a big dairy farm up in Michigan today. They say he is almost white-haired, but is just as hard and rough physically as ever.

Youngsters Nursed More Now

Another thing that has tended to weaken the several teams as machines is the fact that is is much easier for youngsters to break in now. In the early days we did not carry so many men and each member of the team fought to hold his job against all comers. A youngster had to be a bearcat to displace some veteran then. They didn't keep him around and gradually try him out either. If he had something he had to show it right then. A player would be signed tonight and the crowd would expect him to be in the game tomorrow. If he didn't make good he was on his way in a very short time.

But baseball machines have to be built very carefully now and they have to be kept up to a certain standard. A youngster is kept for a year or more for development. As one player weakens and drops out another is ready to put in his place. It is like keeping up a big corporation. More attention is paid to organization than merely to holding together a small gang of fighting ball players.

I don't want to be a gloomy prophet but I don't expect to ever see any more unique teams like the old Orioles, the Pirates, the Giants or the Cubs.

The game has been considerably weakened by the pitchers being barred from certain deliveries such as the spitball, the shine ball, the emery ball and so on.

This naturally helps the batters. It is easier to be a great hitter nowadays. You can see that by looking at the official records. Where we used to have six or seven men hitting over .300 we now have fifty or sixty.

BUSH NOTES

BY JOE BUSH

Beating the Pasadena Eagles seems to be the newest pastime of Orange Belt League clubs. Although the Eagles have clinched the pennant in their speedy loop they have suffered three defeats in the last three weeks after going all season undefeated.

Three weeks ago the Eagles dropped their first game to the Hughes Ice Cream Company nine. However, the next Sunday Sam Cox's nine came back and swamped the Monticello Merchants. But on Christmas Day Harry Nelson's El Monte team plus the aid of Under the Eagles again, while Ian, Regular Floyd Carlson's Hollywood Merchants took the Eagles into camp by a respectable score.

Catcher Walton of the W. H. Pickett Company nine gave the best exhibition of hitting of the recently completed year last Sunday at La Habra when he laced out six consecutive hits in six times at bat. Dalton drove out a home run, a triple, a double and three singles for a total of twelve bases as his day's work.

Speaking of hitting Sam Cox, manager of the Pasadena Eagles, has been doing some nifty plinch-hitting in his last four appearances as a pinch-hitter Cox has come through with a home run, a triple and two singles. Which is nothing to be sneezed at.

The Hill Athletic club nine is well fixed for pitchers. "Dollie" Ayers and Walter Schulz are the two capable Hill A. C. hurlers that have been striking things miserable for a number of local semi-pro nines that pride themselves on their batting average.

Out of three hundred and sixty-five days in 1923 the Fresno and Associated Oil teams closed the last one in the year to play the fastest game of the season in the Greater Southern California Baseball Association. Last Sunday at Irving the Oilers blanked the Beanpickers, 7 to 0, and were on their way to the showers sixty-six minutes after the game started. Stackman on the mound for the Oilers allowed only two hits, while Red Hillman, Irvine shortstop, yielded the Oil sluggers but five bingles.

Harry Nelson believes he has a coming second baseman in Pete, who has been hurling wonderful ball for the 220 K. V. Eskens and the El Monte Merchants. Pete pitched the 220 K. V. club to the Saturday League championship without losing a game and in his last start twirled El Monte to victory, allowing but one run to each game. Pete has won his last twelve games.

While on the subject of pitchers Roy Hovis, who stands to the merced dollar for Owner Williams's Downey club, has been winning games with regularity. Hovis, a southpaw, has fanned on ten, to three of his last shutout games and on several occasions has been forced to hold the opposition to one run to win.

NEW AUTO LAW HITS MOTORISTS

Orange Ordinance Ends All-Night Parking

Car Owners Lacking in Garages Affected

Drastic Fines Promised All Violators

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ORANGE, Jan. 2.—Orange folk, owning automobiles, but who have no garages faced a new predicament today.

At night they will either have to use private driveways to give their machines their accustomed nocturnal rest or else pay regular calls at the City Magistrate's office, there to pay a fine for violating a new ordinance.

NO NIGHT PARKING

All because a new traffic ordinance, regulating the traffic situation in Orange, went into effect New Year's Day, prescribing, among its new rules, a night-time parking limit for cars in the residential district.

Under the new law, parking more than six hours is prohibited on any street in Orange between the hours of 7 p.m. and 6 a.m. The action, it was indicated, was aimed against the practice, prevalent over the city, of parking cars on the residential streets all night long.

HITS APARTMENTS

Downtown rooming-houses and apartments, which provide the tenants with no garages are also included under the new law, it was stated.

A stiff penalty is provided for violation of the new ruling and second offense, it was indicated, may draw the full wrath of the law. The new traffic ordinance also establishes one-way travel around a small circle and prescribes a shorter parking limit in the business district between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The property was fully insured and the deal will stand if the insurance company pays for damage.

DONALDSON BLAMED FOR JAIL DEATH

Coroner Holds Cellmate Responsible for Choking of Prisoner at San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 2.—Death from asphyxiation, "presumably caused by throttling inflicted by Julius E. Donaldson," was the verdict given today by a Coroner's jury which heard testimony in the case of Edward E. Hart of Los Angeles, who was choked to death in the County Jail here Sunday night.

A murder information has been issued against Donaldson. He collapsed when he viewed the body of Hart today.

Mrs. Edward Hart, the widow; her brother, Warren H. Mercer of Anaheim; Miss Lula Mercer, a sister, and John Hart of Los Angeles, brother of the dead man, were present at the inquest.

Mercer declared he held the county responsible for Hart's death and said that if any legal basis for action existed, the relatives would support Mrs. Hart in a suit for damages.

Conflicting testimony was given at the inquest. The prisoners were in the "drunk tank" at the time Hart was slain. Seven of these men were witnesses. It was brought out that Ernest Jentschel, a seaman from Los Angeles Harbor and an inmate of the tank, incurred Hart's ire by some of his utterances. Donaldson, Hart and Jentschel, it was said, engaged in a fight, during which Donaldson, by mistake, got hold of Hart and throttled him into unconsciousness. Jentschel, Monday, was sentenced in Justice Court to six months in the County Jail.

RESEE FINE ORANGE CROP

Bernardino County Expects Excess of Five Million Box Mark; Lemon Mark Greater

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Jan. 2.—All San Bernardino county will, during the 1924, market one of the finest orange crops that has ever been grown in the county. The increase over last year will be approximately 25 per cent, according to the estimates made by the county horticultural commissioner.

The estimates are based on reports from deputies and inspectors who have been making a survey. The crop will run almost 500,000 boxes more than last year bringing growers close to $1,500,000. The crop of oranges for the season is 5,000,000 boxes, as compared to 4,481,527 last year. The lemon crop will be 500,000 boxes, as compared with 282,257 boxes last year. This will make in the neighborhood of 14,000 carloads of citrus fruit to be shipped from the county.

Only in four of the past seventeen years has the citrus crop in the county reached the 5,000,000-box mark. Good prices are expected.

And no boy will be permitted to sell newspapers on the streets of Long Beach except from 6 in the morning to 10 in the evening, except on Saturdays when the hour will be extended to 11 o'clock. On Sundays the selling hours would be from 6 in the morning until noon.

WEDS ON NEW YEAR

Organist Takes Bride as Bells Proclaim 1924

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 2.—The bells that ushered in the new year were really wedding bells for Howard A. Dunlop, organist at the Palace Theater here and Miss Esther Marie Dalager, the first Long Beach couple to be married in 1924, it was revealed here today. The marriage took place soon after the new year was ushered in at Anaheim. Plans had been made for a New Year's Eve wedding in Long Beach, but the groom had secured his marriage license in Orange county and discovered it would be necessary to have the wedding ceremony celebrated in that county.

Because of watch night services being conducted in Anaheim, the young couple secured the services of a minister after many difficulties. Rev. Leon Myers, pastor of the Anaheim Christian Church, performed the ceremony.

Roy Douglas, manager of the Palace Theater, was best man. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Johnson of the State Theater and Miss Mildred Stengel, sister of the bride. The couple will live at the Benfair apartments in this city.

TILT LOST BY BIBLE CLASS

Plan to Have Anaheim Recorder Discharged Meets Snag at Council Meeting

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, Jan. 2.—The Anaheim City Council in a hearing this morning branded as "indefinite, ambigious, unintelligible and uncertain" the petition presented by Rev. Leon Myers's men's Bible class asking for the removal of City Recorder G. B. Brown and continued the hearing until the 16th inst., instructing the petition signers to appear on that date with affidavits made under oath, making specific their charges against the City Recorder.

This brought to an end the first round of the fight on the part of the Bible class, headed by Mr. Myers, to have removed from office on grounds of "incompetency and inefficiency" the City Recorder and the appointment of a new man in his place, and was considered a decisive victory for Mr. Brown.

Two hundred persons, largely adherents of the petition signers, thronged the chambers of the Council in anticipation of a "battle royal." The resolution in which Mr. Myers was called on "to prove his statements or be cited for contempt of court," was laid over for further consideration by the Council, after a statement by Mr. Myers in which it was said that if it were adopted he could no longer feel free to come before the Council and present his case.

BILLBOARDS HIT ON BRITISH ISLE

Advertisers Expected to Aid Public to See Scenery

"See Britain First" Likely to Become Reality

People Tired of Motoring Behind Big Posters

BY PAUL WILLIAMS
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Jan. 2.—"See Great Britain first" is expected to meet an unprecedented response from motorists next season for they will have an opportunity to rediscover the country. This is offered by a decision of three of the largest buyers of billboard advertising to discontinue this form of publicity and tear down the camouflages that have been concealing many of the best bits of scenery on the island.

Although the number of billboards per mile is no greater in England than in the United States, they are sufficient to have become a nuisance. Particularly at intersections of highways and approaches to villages are flaunted the virtues of Peachum pills, Nontinker tires, Beef for Blues and Autocratic Motors in the faces of persons who would much rather see the beauty spots which have developed during the centuries.

When the situation became so bad that motorists had to stop their cars and walk behind a series of thirty-by-twelve "signs of the times" to see what they were traveling to see, they swore that they would rather walk than ride on "Nontinker" tires and other products whose manufacturers were obstructing the views.

They wrote to the papers about their displeasure, which has been for thirty years expressed by the Scapa Society for the Prevention of Disfigurement in Town and Country. This might readily be called the society for the prevention of cruelty to landscapes. This association recently began negotiations with the principal users of rural advertising space—the three companies furnishing most of the gasoline to consumers in the United Kingdom, the Shell, British Petroleum and Anglo-American companies.

A serious effort will be made in the coming Parliament to put through an amendment to the advertisement regulation act empowering local boards to make by-laws to restrict advertisements affecting rural scenery from highway, railway or any public place or water in any rural district.

KILLED BUT NOT DEAD IS HIS PLAINT

Battle Fatal, One Fighter Tells Judge; Both Are Dismissed

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2. — Before Magistrate McKinley in Essex Market Court came Isidor Yontel and Moses Keltenbaum—Isidor, a big fellow with a bleeding nose and Moses, undersized but intent. Isidor took the stand to complain.

"The feller comes by where I work in Houston street for the bundles for delivery. I say he should sign on the paper. Then he kill me."

"Just a moment," said Magistrate McKinley. "Do I understand that he killed you?"

"Sure," replied Isidor.

"Judge," put in Moses, "he ain't."

"You don't mean that he killed you," said the court.

"Sure," cried Isidor, pulling a cigarette from his pocket. "Dead."

"Put away that cigarette," snapped the court clerk.

"Sure," agreed Isidor, returning it to his pocket. "You don't understand," went on Magistrate McKinley. "You aren't dead."

"Sure," said Isidor. "When I wudn't give him no bundles."

"He makes with the hammer," explained Moses. "He misses. I punch him in the nose."

"Is that right, Isidor?" asked the magistrate.

"Sure."

"Both men reputable and hard working, officer?" asked the court of the patrolman.

"Case dismissed. Feel able to walk, Isidor?"

"Sure," sighed Isidor, wiping his nose.

OREGONIAN BELIEVED MURDERED IS FOUND

FINANCIAL PLIGHT CAUSED ROSEBURG MAN TO DISAPPEAR

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 2.—Detectives here today found and interviewed R. B. Dabney of Roseburg, who disappeared last September under circumstances indicating that he had been murdered and his body thrown into the Willamette River from a bluff along the Oswego Road, near here.

Dabney said he had gotten into financial difficulty in Roseburg and found he could not make good on a wood-cutting contract.

"So I decided to make people think I simply had dropped out of existence," he said. "I left my wife and daughter at Salem and stopped my car near Dunthorpe. Then I hit the dog over the head with an iron bar and dropped a lot of papers in the car and came into Portland."

The police said no prosecution of Dabney was planned.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Aga Kahn is spiritual head of the Mohammedans in India, East Africa and Central Asia.

The tribunal recently sentenced Loufti Bey, head of the Turkish bar, to five years at hard labor on a treason charge for sending a letter to the caliph telling him that his resignation would be disastrous to the dynasty and the country.

DETROIT, Jan. 2.—Gladys Smith, 10 years of age, of Labelle, Fla., is able to walk like any other little girl because Henry Ford found her, took an interest in her, and sent her to the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit a few months ago.

When Mr. Ford was in Labelle last summer his attention was attracted to Gladys, afflicted with what is commonly known as "club feet." He asked her if she would like to have her feet made straight, and when she told him she desired that more than anything else, Mr. Ford sent her to his hospital, in company with her father.

PHOENIX OPENS YEAR WEALTHY

Banks Have $3,500,000 More Than Last January

Cotton Crop Credits Clear Long-Standing Debts

Prosperity Won Despite Quietness of Mines

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Jan. 2.—Phoenix started the new year with a degree of prosperity that may be shown by figures. Bank deposits are $3,500,000 ahead of those on the New Year before.

This to a degree is due to the largest holiday business ever enjoyed by the merchants, but mainly comes from credits from the great cotton crop, which has paid many debts of a year or more standing.

Liquidation of indebtedness also has been known in the cattle industry, while a large income soon will be obtained from the shearing of 500,000 head of sheep on the near-by plains, already well grassed by abnormal rains.

FARM INCOME LARGE

It has been computed that Maricopa county this year will have an income of $26,000,000 from agricultural products alone. Yet the State's mining industry, which furnished a very large part of the market for Salt River Valley products, has been very quiet during 1923.

POSTAL GAINS HEAVY

Postmaster S. J. Michelson furnished additional evidence, in a showing of local postal receipts of $285,000 for 1922, compared with $255,000 for 1923, an election year, in which the October and November mailings jumped about 30 per cent.

Every month last year showed a gain over the same month of the preceding year, with a gross gain of 12 per cent.

In both common and high schools, the attendance gain for the year has been about 10 per cent. The primary and grammar schools have enrollement of about 7500, the high school 1700, junior school 134, St. Mary's Parochial School 775, Arisona Adventist Academy 140 and Indian school 531, while a score of business and private schools are maintained.

On his delayed arrival he learned that his mother had died a week before. Bisbee had hardly been reached before Mrs. Chapman was prostrated with pneumonia, due to the hardships and cold of the journey, death following within a fortnight.

Coast and Geodetic Survey

Tides, Los Angeles Harbor

Note—The following tabulation of the tides is compiled from the Pacific Coast Tide Tables of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. The tides are arranged in the order of their occurrence, beginning with the first tide after midnight in the left hand column. There are usually four tides, two high and two low, each day; but occasionally what would be the fourth tide occurs after midnight and thus becomes the first tide of the next day. The columns of heights give the elevation of each tide above the plane of reference of the Coast and Geodetic Survey chart on which the tabulations are based, as provided by the minus sign, or dash, when the heights are below the plane. The tabulations are furnished to the Field Station of the Survey, Custom House, San Francisco, Cal.

Sunrise and sunset are computed for Los Angeles Harbor. Moonrise and moonset for Los Angeles.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—Tentative arrangements were announced here today by the Alaska-Siberian Navigation Company for the establishment of a direct steamship service between San Francisco and Seward, Alaska, the terminal of the Seward-Fairbanks Railroad.

The plan, according to John C. Ogden, vice-president and general manager of the company, is to install three freighters in this service to transport coal from Alaska to California and freight from here north.

It is hoped, he said, to obtain such preferential railroad freight rates as to make possible favorable competition with coal from Australia.

Joseph D. Sheedy, vice-president of the United States Shipping Board, conferred here today with officials of the Robert Dollar Company, which recently took over several Shipping Board vessels.

Sheedy's arrival here from the East today brought the number of Shipping Board officials on the Pacific Coast to three, Commander R. D. Gatewood, in charge of maintenance and repairs, having been here with his assistant, Capt. J. E. Ballay.

Sheedy will be in San Francisco for several days before leaving for Seattle. He plans to make a first hand investigation of the cost of the 535-type vessels now undergoing repair for continued operation by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

The President Wilson will replace the liner President Pierce on a scheduled trip to the Orient from San Francisco, February 21. The President Pierce is at Mare Island undergoing extensive repairs.

The Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation was awarded two contracts today, to repair the Shipping Board tanker Stockton and the liner President Hayes. The Stockton is operated by Struthers & Barry and the President Hayes by the Dollar Steamship Company. Repairs on the West Coctus, another Shipping Board craft, will be made by the Moore Dry Dock Company under a contract let today.

The Swedish motorship Lapwela from Philadelphia, arrived here today on her way to Vancouver from the Trans-Oceanic Company, which vessel will take her cargo for the Orient. The Lapwela put in here for bunkers.

PORTLAND, Jan. 2.—The steamships Wheaton and Nanmost will be withdrawn from service between Pacific Coast ports and those of the Atlantic coast by the Shipowners Intercoastal Company, unless stronger support is given them than has been shown so far, according to advices received here today from Nort E. Haney, United States shipping Commissioner. The two vessels are government owned. They have large refrigerated cargo space.

The steamer Pivtel, inbound from the Orient, is expected here tomorrow and the West Jasmp will be due the same day.

Domestic trade inbound and outbound through this port amounted to 8,686,255 tons valued at $182,536,479, during 1923, as compared with 1,891,461 tons, valued at $125,563,586, during the previous year. This advance in domestic trade through this port is detailed in the annual data issued today by the Merchants' Exchange.

ASTORIA (Or.) Jan. 2.—Miscellaneous cargo shipments from the port of Astoria terminals during the two weeks of December included 19,217 cases of canned salmon, 351,275 sacks of flour, 9500 sacks of mill feed, 275,000 lath, 2,500,000 shingles and 165,000 bushels of wheat. Four thousand bales of Kraft pulp were received from Ocean Falls, B. C., for reshipment to the interior.

The tug Onsomia arrived early this morning from Gray's Harbor, towing a dredge which she took to Longview.

The Dutch steamer Tjilbaar, which is taking on 5060 tons of wheat and flour here for the Orient, is expected to be ready to sail tomorrow afternoon.

The Japanese steamer Yuei Maru, now at the port dock being fitted, will begin loading 2900 tons of bulk wheat tomorrow.

NEWPORT (Or.) Jan. 2.—The steam schooner Robert Johnson arrived this morning and began loading spruce lumber for San Francisco.

The gas schooner Aldan arrived from Waldport on her way to the Toledo shipyards, where extensive repairs are to be made. The Aldan will refinish a run from San Francisco to way points on the Oregon coast.

RADIO REPORT

The Radio Corporation of America, in co-operation with the United States Public Health Service and the Seaman's Institute, will receive reports for medical and surgical services from ships at sea through the KSC station at Los Angeles Harbor and its PKH station at San Francisco without cost.

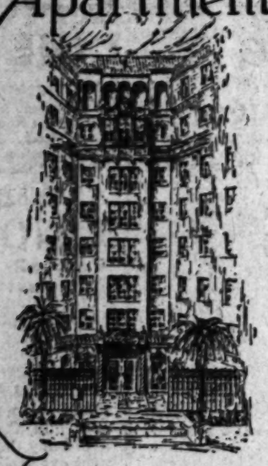
Las Moradas Apartments



Your apartment should be your own

First impressions always leave a very decided impress. Therefore, it is essential to insure that the first impression gained by those who approach one's home be a true representative of what lies within.

Those who approach Las Moradas from the Rosewood side and enter through the portals facing this street cannot fail to appreciate the atmosphere of repressed luxuriousness which is expressed here.

And just as this entrance carries out the general beauty of the whole, so does every other seperate item assume its proper place in the carefully outlined plans which will provide here a structure of individually owned apartments of which Los Angeles may be justly proud.

Universal May Put Branch Near Phoenix

House Catches Fire When Still Explodes

Barker Lewis Being Brought Back From Denver

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Jan. 2.—Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Picture Corporation, has written Ben L. Ilenshaw of this city asking about ranch land near Phoenix that might be suitable for studio purposes.

The company is said to be considering a number of locations to relieve the pressure on the central plant near Hollywood.

The sound of an explosion before daylight in the northern part of the city brought neighbors to their windows to see a house bursting into flame and several men hurrying away by automobile. The fire department located the explosion as that of a large distilling plant and saved the house and some liquor.

Deputy Sheriff Dittmore has wired from Topeka, Kan., that he is leaving that city tonight for Phoenix with Phil K. Lewis, former president of the Central Bank of Phoenix, under indictment for misuse of the bank funds.

B. J. McKinney of Casa Grande today was appointed by Gov. Hunt as chairman of the Live Stock Sanitary Board, succeeding W. T. Sanders, who resigned because of ill health.

NUMERO 142

Pláticas Diarias en Español por el Prof. R. Guerrero, del Departamento Español de "The Times"

Refiriéndose a las formas del subjuntivo hipotético, nos dice el señor Bello lo siguiente: Estas formas introducen en la conjugación castellana algunos embarazos y dificultades de que yo hubiera podido desentenderme siguiendo el ejemplo de otros: pero el uso que se ha hecho de esta gramática para dar ciertas reglas sobre la materia, aunque pocas veces con la exactitud y precisión necesarias, me hace creer que mis trabajos en esta parte no han sido del todo infructuosos, y me alienta ahora a dilucidarlos y mejorarlos en lo posible. Para que se aprecie lo que ello importa, obsérvese que en muy estimables escritores se confunde a veces la forma en "ase", "ara", "ese", "era", del subjuntivo común, con la en "ere", "are" del hipotético, diciendo, por ejemplo: "Si alguien llamase, le abriría"; "si llegase a tiempo, le convidaré". La diferencia que yo en este punto señalo no depende de ninguna teoría, porque es la práctica de los mejores tiempos de la lengua, y la ordinaria entre los que hablan y escriben correctamente en el día.

Podemos dar a los lectores menos instruídos una regla que los preservará de caer en una confusión de Modos y tiempos que va cundiendo, sobretodo entre los americanos: Siempre que a la forma en "ase", "ese", vemos que consiente la lengua sustituir la forma en "are", "ere" (acerca de lo cual no cabe error en los que tengan por lengua nativa la castellana), podemos estar seguros de que esta segunda es la forma propia.

Más adelante, insiste el señor Bello en ponernos en guardia contra esta clase de errores, y hace las observaciones siguientes: Hay otra corrupción que consiste en dar a la forma en "se" (cantase, hubiese cantado) el valor de la forma en "re" (cantare, hubiere cantado). Esta es mucho peor que la precedente, y va cundiendo bastante aun en el lenguaje de escritores generalmente castizos y correctos. No puede usarse el pretérito de subjuntivo sino cuando envuelve una relación verdadera o metafórica de anterioridad; sería, pues, un solecismo: "si hubiese comedia esta noche, iré a verla". Expresándose un mero futuro, el tiempo propio es "si hubiere" o (adoptando el uso secundario del indicativo) "si hay". Ni puede usarse el ante-co-pretérito (pluscuamperfecto) de subjuntivo sino cuando con él se significan dos relaciones de anterioridad, ambas verdaderas, o una de ellas metafórica; no sería pues tolerable: "Mañana, si hubiese llegado el gobernador, iremos a saludarle"; porque el tiempo de la llegada es un antefuturo, que solo se expresaría correctamente con "hubiere llegado" o "ha llegado".

En la Plática 143 presentaré ejemplos de intolerables solecismos de esta clase que he encontrado en importantes documentos oficiales recién publicados por la "Gaceta de España".

BRETHREN MAY TRY MINISTER

Misconduct Charge Against Rev. C. C. Black Arouses Up-State Methodists

FRESNO, Jan. 2.— Rev. C. C. Black, pastor of a Methodist Episcopal Church, South, near Sacramento, charged with misconduct with a married woman, may be tried in Fresno next October, during a Methodist conference, it has been announced by Rev. W. G. Fletcher, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Fletcher, who characterized the episode as "an unfortunate affair," said:

"If he is guilty he will be expelled from the ministry of the denomination and from membership as well, and if he is found not guilty he will be exonerated and the church will stand behind him."

It is understood that Mr. Black will either call for a trial within sixty days or wait for the approaching Fresno conference. Bishop Du Bose, who is visiting in Virginia, has been advised of the charges by wire. He is expected back next month.

The complaint against the minister, who is 56 years of age, was made by Mrs. Chester Hiddleson, 30, wife of a Yolo county deputy clerk. Rev. Mr. Black has charged a "frame-up" and threatens a slander suit against his accusers.

TULARE SHERIFF HAS BUSY YEAR

VISALIA, Jan. 2.—An increase of 15 per cent in the amount of civil work attached to the Tulare county Sheriff's office is observed from the books for 1923. During 1923 a total of 884 civil cases were placed in the hands of the Sheriff for execution or service. For the year previous Sheriff Cort Smith and his deputies handled 766 cases.

In general, the increase in business of the office is considered normal and in proportion to the growth of the county.

Former Kern County Traffic Chief Gets Federal Post

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 2.—W. E. Snell, former chief of the county traffic squad, has been appointed a Federal prohibition agent, according to announcement made by T. J. Nicely, Federal prohibition agent at Fresno. Snell's appointment, it was said, came from national prohibition headquarters at Washington following recommendation of him by Nicely and S. F. Rutter, Federal prohibition agent for California. The new agent took up his duties at Fresno today. He will work with Nicely.

Although Snell will make his headquarters in Fresno, his district will comprise the entire San Joaquin Valley. He has resided in Kern county for fifteen years, having held the position of constable in the Oildale district for some time. He left the employ of the county with the disbanding of the traffic squad recently.

Extradition of Main Ordered by Governor

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—F. L. Main, in jail at Seattle, will be returned to Los Angeles, where he was indicted by a grand jury in 1920 on five counts for asserted violation of the State Corporate Securities Act. Extradition papers drawn on Gov. Hart of Washington were signed here today by Gov. Richardson.

Main is charged with having sold Mrs. Carrie Bowman of Los Angeles, $10,000 worth of stock in the Southern Oregon Oil and Gas Company nearly four years ago after telling her that his company owned valuable properties in a proven field at Medford, Or.

Main was arrested three years ago in New York, but escaped by jumping a $2000 bond after L. D. Oaks, then a detective sergeant, had gone to New York for him.

BURNHAM PROMOTED TO BRIGADIER-GENERAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2. — Col. William P. Burnham, commanding at the Presidio, San Francisco, has been appointed brigadier-general, filling the vacancy created by the promotion of Maj.-Gen. Gordon last November.

Grand Jurors Ready to Cast Dillon Ballots

FRESNO, Jan. 2.—After an all-day session today the grand jury is expected to begin balloting tomorrow morning on three or four indictments believed to be under consideration in connection with charges of embezzlement of $7000 worth of municipal bonds against former Commissioner of Finance Charles Dillon.

The indictments understood to be ready for vote include those against Dillon, former members of his staff and outsiders alleged to have acted as his agents in distributing for second payment bonds already redeemed.

Because of the grand jury hearing, the preliminary examinations of Dillon, scheduled for this morning, before Police Judge James G. Crichton, were postponed until tomorrow afternoon at the request of the prosecution and over protests of Defense Counsel Carl E. Lindsay, who charged the District Attorney's office with stalling and bad faith in not proceeding.

RAILWAYS HURT BY CANAL CARGO

Lower Westbound or Higher Eastway Rate Need

Twenty Per Cent Reduction Applied For

Ninety Products Affected; Hearing Scheduled

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 2.—Transcontinental rail carriers face the necessity of securing lower rates on certain westbound commodities, to equalize competition with the Panama Canal boat carriers, or an upward revision of eastbound rates from the Pacific Coast on virtually all consignments, H. F. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, said today before Interstate Commerce Commission examiners here.

The testimony was given in support of the application of the Transcontinental Freight Bureau for lower westbound rates on shipments to Pacific ports. Initial hearings on the application were held today by Examiner Pattison.

OTHERS SPEAK

About ninety commodities, including iron and steel products, drygoods, fertilizers, paper, tinware and roofing materials are listed in the carriers' application. Many middle-western commercial organizations are understood to be prepared to support the carriers' plea on the ground that the lower water rates from the Atlantic and Gulf ports to the Pacific terminals constitute a discriminatory factor against the middle-western shipper to the western market.

Edward Chambers, vice-president of the Santa Fe system, W. H. Finley, president of the Chicago and Northwestern; H. G. Toll, traffic expert of the Transcontinental Freight Bureau and Mr. Byram, the only witnesses heard today, presented arguments for the proposed rates. The schedule sought by the roads is roughly estimated to be 20 per cent under present tariffs on the commodities listed.

FIGHT LOOMS

Opposition to the proposed reductions has been expressed by commercial associations and shippers of the inter-mountain States, inter-coastal steamship carriers, and several groups representing inland cities of California to which the new schedule would not be applicable. All have indicated their wish to testify in the hearings.

Mr. Byram testified that the canal ships had diverted a very considerable westbound tonnage from the rail lines and that as a result the roads frequently were compelled to carry three empty cars to the Coast for every loaded car. The lines must regain the water tonnage or have increased rates on the eastbound perishable traffic, he said.

CONTROL CAUSE

President Finley declared that the present disparity between water and rail rates worked to the disadvantage of both the middle-western manufacturers and the consumers on the Pacific Coast. He pointed out that whereas the rail rates are under government regulation, the tariffs of the ship lines are determined solely by competitive conditions.

Approximately 100 witnesses are to be heard here, after which additional testimony will be taken in a series of examinations in western territory beginning at Salt Lake City on January 15.

County Officials Threaten to Close Seven Places Within City

FRESNO, Jan. 2.—Seven establishments in which liquor is alleged to have been served in the past in violation of the prohibition laws are named in an abatement drive opened by Dist.-Atty. George R. Lovejoy. First notices of the abatement steps have been served by Detective Sergeant Thomas R. O'Brien at Lovejoy's request, warning owners that their places will be closed indefinitely in the event of future offenses.

The notices name J. O'Dell, lessee at 1823 Kern street; Mrs. Lottie L. Green, owner, and F. J. Minor, lessee of the Pioneer Bar, 1043 Broadway; G. H. Alchian, owner, and Harry Rose, lessee, at 1826½ Mariposa street; C. Neilmeier, owner, and A. AGED RIDER OF BICYCLE SUCCUMBS

Pioneer Rancher Dies at Age of 90 at Residence of Daughter

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 2.—Cornelius Bonine, 90 years of age, one of the few surviving veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic in this vicinity, pioneer rancher and orange grower of Porterville district, who was one time known as the "oldest bicycle rider," died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. J. Wymore of the Westfield district following a brief illness today.

A native of Wayne county, Indiana, Mr. Bonine came to Porterville thirty-two years ago. Until a few months since, with his bicycle he was a familiar figure on the streets of Porterville. He was an active member of the Christian Church. He is survived by his daughter and one son, Albert Bonine, and by relatives in the South.

Woman Held as Accessory in Brand Changing

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 2.—Mrs. May Newcomb, 40 years of age, of Granite, was yesterday arrested by Sheriff Walser and placed in the County Jail charged with being an accessory to changing brands on Kern county cattle. She was arrested on a warrant sworn to by Earl D. Sutherland, a merchant of Glennville, who recently had Carl Arnold rearrested on complaint of changing cattle brands after he had been released from the County Jail on similar charges. Mrs. Newcomb is the mother-in-law of Arnold.

Both are now in jail awaiting arraignment on the charges filed by Sutherland. C. F. Macey, investigator of the Cattlemen's Protective Association, arrested Arnold on the second complaint of changing brands last Monday.

MIDWIVES IN STATE MUST HAVE LICENSE

SEEK TO LOWER MORTALITY RATE AMONG MOTHERS AND INFANTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 2.—Efforts further to reduce the mortality rate among infants and mothers in California has resulted in a campaign of concerted action by the State Boards of Medical Examiners and Health to put a stop to the practice of unlicensed midwifery in this State, it was announced here today by Dr. Charles S. Pinkham, secretary and executive officer of the Board of Medical Examiners.

The purpose of the two boards, Dr. Pinkham said, is to round up all unlicensed midwives in various sections of the State and to require them to take out a license under the State law if they are qualified by training and education to continue their work and to stop practicing entirely if they are not qualified.

Dr. Pinkham said a number of arrests already have been made through the activities of investigators of the Board of Medical Examiners.

Los Angeles Banks Report a Year of Growth

Reclamation Bonds, Utility Stock is Offered

Union Oil Rights to Expire in Another Month

The directors of the Citizens' Banks, controling the Citizens' National and Citizens' Trust and Savings Banks, have authorized the payment of an extra dividend of 2 per cent on the outstanding stock of record December 31.

The extra payment results, according to the statement by J. Dabney Day, president of the Citizens' National, from the appreciable increase in business during 1923. Deposits gained $20,000,000 in the twelve months, and total resources are now in excess of $90,000,000.

Comparing the statement of deposits of the California Bank for twelve months or 1923 with 1922, officers of the bank state that the increase has been 44 per cent. On the 1st inst., deposits were $70,958,380.07 as against $49,332,237.32 on January 1, 1923. On September 14, 1923, the date of the last bank call, the bank had deposits of approximately $63,780,800, and by the end of the year, had increased this amount by over $7,000,000.

Directors of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank have declared the regular quarterly dividend at the rate of 16 per cent per annum, at $4 per share, and a special dividend of 2 per cent, or $2 a share, making a total of $6, which was paid the 1st inst.

RECLAMATION BONDS

Reclamation District No. 551, located in the Sacramento delta region, has authorized the issuance of $675,000 6 per cent bonds, maturing serially from 1936 to 1954, inclusive, for the purpose of refunding outstanding warrants and other obligations.

The warrants which the bond issue will refund were issued to cover the costs of levee construction reclamation and drainage works. About $450,000 of the bonds will be offered for sale sometime this month and the remainder as rapidly as the district needs the money.

The amendment to the reclamation law passed at the 1923 session of the State Legislature, allows landowners to purchase bonds in any amount and deposit them at any time with the County Treasurer at par for the purpose of reducing their assessments. By so doing, according to the officials of the district, they are able to cancel future interest, and the demand from this source will automatically tend to keep the bonds from dropping below par

NEW VICE-PRESIDENT

Los Angeles' newest financial institution, the Jennings Corporation, yesterday announced the appointment of Earl R. Jennings is president and Robert F. Purvis is secretary. Mr. Obern has had considerable experience in advertising and financial organizations both in this city and in the East.

Caution

Caution is progress with care. It does not hinder, nor does it cause loss of time. It only watches, sees, and guides. Its one purpose is to lead the ship of business safely to success. It is common sense on the navigating bridge.

Business leaders recognize the present as a time of promise. But they preach CAUTION—progressive, vigilant caution.

Business vigilance is impossible without facts and figures—complete, up-to-the-minute and dependable. Out-of-date figures, incomplete facts! They are the dead eyes of blind business. They are dangerous.

Sound methods of Cost Accounting are the one source of reliable facts and figures—the vigilant eyes of CAUTION on the navigating bridge.

The opening of offices in Los Angeles and San Francisco brings the full and tried services of Ernst & Ernst within easy reach of progressive business on the Pacific Coast.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Looking Fore and Aft; Analysis of Price Movements; Labor at Peace; History of the Mort Gage

A review of 1923 in the foreign exchange market reveals the Ruhr situation as the one strong underlying cause in one way or another of the numerous fluctuations which were recorded. In the case of the franc and the mark, the declines were continous from January 2 on down to the end, or near the end of the year. The British pound sterling continued to advance for a period of two months after failure of the Allied conference in January to reach an accord on reparations policy. The reason back of this advance was primarily based on the prospect of funding the British debt to the United States. Thereafter, all exchanges began to give way under the weight of political tangles abroad and the slackening of general business with the growing of the burden entailed by a commercial war in which Germany played a suicidal part.

Holders of railway shares have been doing considerable figuring on their own account of late as the result of announcements that the earnings for the twelve months just ended will be approximately $200,000,000 in excess of what they were in the previous year. Extra dividends, allowing for reductions due to losses, will total less than $16,000,000, according to figures that have been compiled. What has become of the difference between $200,000,000 and the $16,000,000 is a question that is interesting more than one holder of railroad shares. Executives say that the explanation is not difficult; that it was next to impossible to reflect 1923 profits in the 1923 dividends; that a large part of the earnings have been put into their surplus funds for future emergencies and that in some instances, at least, the increases in earnings during 1923 will be reflected in the dividends to be paid out during 1924.

It is not too much to say that the developments of the last thirty to sixty days have completely reversed the position of speculators. Up to mid-November the the financial district was extremely bearish. Then it encountered a "dividend market" in which no less than thirty-five well-known corporations increased their regular dividends or paid extras. This marked a change in the speculative attitude and in the last month about one-half of the long decline which has taken place since March has been recovered. The market now enters the new year at what might be called a "half-way point." It is the opinion of most of those who follow the market closely that it has completely discounted the extra dividends which have been declared and has at least partially discounted a proposal for tax revision.

PRICE MOVEMENTS

Lest the movement of commodity prices and variations in the general price level be misunderstood, it is well to give the index figures showing the trend of prices during the year. From three different and reliable sources the figures are in accord. They follow:

	Bureau of Labor statistics.	Bradstreet.	Harvard service.
April	150	$13 99	78
May	154	13 67	76.1
June	155	13 38	72.6
July	151	13 29	68.9
August	150	12 93	68.1
September	154	13 91	67.8
October	152	13 19	66.5
November	153	13 14	67.5
December	...	13 44	67.9

If the changes indicate anything it is the tendency of prices to become stable. The shake out of the summer is clearly shown by low figures and the recovery is equally clear. December brought an advance as indicated by two of the computations and if the correspondence is continued the index of the bureau of labor statistics should be 153 or higher for December. There has been an upward trend from the low point recorded for August which gives some justification for the opinion of the statisticians and economists that the price level either has or will become stabilized between 150 and 160 using the index of the bureau of labor statistics.

If the prices were to go on rising there would come a condition of resistance, known as a buyers' strike, and if they were to go on failing for any considerable period or to any considerable degree, there would come an adjustment in which the purchasing power of the dollar would be a conspicuous element. Wages would drop, but not their purchasing power. Lower prices will presuppose less monetary gold which is not in immediate prospect, and the necessity for organized labor to recast its policies. This is a remote prospect until necessity drives and unemployment is the only influence to which organized labor responds.

A forecast of a long period of falling prices seems out of accord with the facts and the trend. On the other hand not only the world situation, but the effort and disposition of producers and business leaders is to hold prices stable. In the building trades the lessons of the value of price stability was learned by experience and progress has been steady ever since. So far as wages go there is apparently no disposition to open up the question by either employers or employed.

The public mind has become adjusted to the price level. The people are quick to detect any attempts to profiteer. There is suspicion now of the integrity of the price of raw cotton, but common sentiment cannot operate in that field. It is not until the price of raw cotton has been carried forward into the field of finished products that real price resistance will be encountered. Such resistance is a corrective influence that is much stronger than the conversation about a shortage of cotton and the production of mystifying statistics to prove it.

LABOR AT PEACE

It is a long time since there was such a general peace in the labor world. A spurt in production might unsettle things, but many valuable lessons have been learned. Automobile manufacturers used to be the greatest disturbers of wage and labor conditions. Time was when they were depopulating Michigan farms, tempting men away from the railroads and bidding against each other. They are now mightily interested to keep production up and prices down. In every line the employer has found it costly to interfere with his fellow-employers. In fact, one of the most interesting phases of the price situation is the effort being made by producers to keep prices steady or lower them, if possible. In the face of these efforts any advance in the price level is testimony of the strength of the tendency upward.

Price index figures are made from wholesale prices. In the retail field conditions are, as to many commodities and articles, far from satisfactory. The consumer is not price wise. The housewife, who conducts the greatest of all business, can compare price quotations and arrive at some decision as to comparative quality, but if retailers are all of the same mind her plight is desperate. The corner butcher shifts the responsibility to the packer, and the packer may deny, but there is no accurate method of determining why bacon should be 40 cents or more a pound when hogs sell at $7 a hundred.

The packer says bacon is the choice part and should bring the high price. Similarly sirloin steak is a small proportion of the dressed animal. The retailer says his costs of delivery are high and his customers don't care when they pay their bills. The dressmaker says she must be paid for her artistry. There are myriad explanations of retail prices, with wages and rents and taxes conspicuous among them. The impulse to charge the consumer round prices and take advantage of his innocence passes from one to another, and finally becomes a system. Probably the condition will continue so long as times are comfortable, wages high and employment plentiful. To reverse the condition seems to call for harsh methods, which everyone wishes to avoid.

The biggest and most beautiful moving-picture theater in Chicago flashes on its screen the legend that no moving-picture show is worth more than 50 cents. But similar shows in less attractive theaters bring practically regular theater prices, and they are filled at every performance. What can be done with people who will pay what is asked and too often measure quality by the price of it?

EARLY MORTGAGES

James A. Hool, vice-president and general manager of the Federal Securities Corporation, has been much interested in the unfolding of the mysteries revealed in the tomb of the late King Tut. So much so, in fact, that he turned his curiosity into a channel more closely affiliated with his every-day interests and delved into forgotten and probably musty tomes to learn what first made a mortgage tick. Here is what he found out and is willing to hand down to posterity via The Times:

Roman law makes early simplified mortgage regulations so as to give the borrower the fullest possible protection. If Caius desired a loan with his property as security, he simply gave Romus, the money lender, a lien on his property without relinquishing possession, and ancient Greek laws provided a similar expedient.

In Attica it was the law that mortgages on a piece of land were recorded by placing a conspicuous pillar or tablet on the property near the public highway and on it were inscribed the creditor's name and the amount of the debt. Later on that feature of the reforms of Solon which extinguished mortgages was said to have "removed the pillars from Attica."

Roman law provided that a fully effective mortgage agreement could not be made without having it registered in some public office.

A similar law is set forth very clearly in the early laws of India. Everywhere it seems to have been a scheme instinctive with the human race to give security for the payment of a loan.

So the Anglo-Saxon word for "pledge" was of the same derivation as the old Roman word "vadium" of which there were two varieties.

The "Vivum Vadium" or live pledge, where the borrower kept possession and full use of the pledge. The "Mortuum Vadium" where the pledge was actually transferred to the lender and he had full use of it.

The hardship of permitting the lender to enjoy full use and possession of the pledge was soon recognized by law and designated as a species of usury, with penalty attached.

The term "Mortuum Vadium" became in French the "mort gage" which is the source from which the word "mortgage" of today is derived.

In early England the same idea was developed and the Norman judges after the conquest recognized gages or pledges with or without transfer of possession.

Here, registration was effected by depositing a written instrument in the county court or in a monastery.

With the settlement of America the same system of English regulations regarding mortgages was taken over and the registration of these agreements was at once put in force. The modern mortgage agreement is virtually the same as that in effect in England during the thirteenth century.

REVIEW OF IRON AND STEEL TRADE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND (O.) Jan. 2.—"Normal conditions of business were more closely approached by the iron and steel industry in 1923 than during any year since the war," says Iron Trade Review. The twelve months period just past may be said to have carried to maturity the present era of recovery of the free flow of trade unrelated with the inflation or deflation of war and their aftereffects, for which preparations and foundations were laid in 1922 following the great fluctuations in the course of 1921 and 1922. Demands in 1923 were shaped more in accordance with sound, present requirements for logical future development than by forces arising from the unbalanced and unsettled conditions of the post-war period.

"In all lines, domestic consumption of steel in 1923 was the largest the industry has ever known. No other years rear approached 1923 in its volume of output of steel. The production of iron and steel in 1923 established new high marks for any peace year. In pig iron a new record for the country for all time was scored with a production of approximately 40,500,000 tons. This exceeds by about 950,000 tons the highest point since 1916. The estimated total output of steel ingots and castings was approximately 44,500,000 tons. This compares with the record of 45,067,000 tons in 1917. Consumption of Lake Superior iron ore in the eleven months from January 1 to December 1, was the most ever known, totalling 57,737,000 tons.

"Prospects for the future of the iron and steel industry continue to improve as the beginning of the new year finds general buying unusual in large volume. The Southern Pacific Railroad finally distributed its order of 2,255 cars making a total of December the largest single month. After six months shrinkage, pig iron production showed checked in December. The total for that month was 2,560,256 tons and the daily average 82,734 tons, compared with 3,297,191 tons and 106,375 tons, respectively in November.

"The Iron Trade composite of 14 leading iron and steel products last week was $43.84, compared with $43, the week preceding."

LIVERPOOL WEAKNESS AFFECTS COTTON HERE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The cotton futures list displayed a reactionary tendency in mixed trading today. Weakness in Liverpool caused an early reaction of 40 to 50 points, but scattered bull support resulted in a slight recovery later of about 25 points from the early lows, but the market slipped off again in the afternoon. This movement dissipated the recovery and sent the list to new low levels and at the close prices were 61 to 91 points under the previous close, and but a few points above the poorest of the day. Sentiment was generally mixed, with many traders looking for a further downward reaction.

Spot was quiet, 130 points decline, 32.40 cents for middling upland.

Southern spot: New Orleans, 35 cents, 50 points decline; Savannah 34.10 cents, 80 points decline; Augusta, 34 cents, 55 points decline; Memphis, 34.75 cents, 50 points decline; Houston, 34.60 cents, 100 points decline; Little Rock, 34.75 cents, 50 points decline.

January Investment Offerings

Bond prices unquestionably are low today. From September, 1922, until a few weeks ago, bond prices have declined almost consistently.

Today, 6% to 7% is as common as 5% to 6% was a year ago—on the same or comparable security. No one KNOWS that bond prices will rise tomorrow, but anyone can tell that they are low today.

Our "Investment Offerings" for January, 1924, sets forth a few of the many reasons why bonds are undoubtedly THE investment at this time.

This booklet also contains brief descriptions of some of the high grade securities on our list, and will answer your question, "what bonds are a good buy in the present market?"

We will be pleased to send you a copy — without obligation. Just write your name and address in the spaces below and mail to us today.

How You Can Increase Your Income

A larger income — without sacrifice of safety or convenience — is the goal of every conservative investor.

The present security market offers an unusually favorable opportunity for realizing this goal today. Many sound bonds, with no depreciation in security or intrinsic value, are selling at prices which yield ½% to ¾% more per annum than twelve months ago.

It is now the prediction of every investment authority that these bonds will soon return to their former prices or seek even higher levels. The investor who buys good bonds now is securing for himself a better income than was possible twelve months ago, or will be possible six months hence.

We have assisted many of our clients to take advantage of this opportunity. May we be of similar service to you?

BOND QUOTATIONS

Spirited Buying
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Secondary and speculative bonds were unusually active in today's bond market, the first of the new year. Traders said much of this buying originated from investors who had sold freely during the last month of 1923 to get losses in their income tax return for that year.

There were also evidences of a good demand for the better grade investment issues, particularly railroad bonds.

Trading in the industrial group was over a broad list with price movements slightly irregular. Some of the copper, rubber, steel, chemical and packing bonds recorded moderate improvement, while numerous miscellaneous industrial liens eased slightly. Public utilities liens also were active but without definite price trend.

Conflicting influences were at work in both the foreign government and United States government issues. The latter moved within a narrow area and in relatively small volume. Some of the French issues moved forward briskly while other European bonds slumped slightly. The Mexican 4's were bid up a point while the 5's of that country fell lower.

Only one issue of any consequence was announced for public subscription, a $16,000,000 issue of Gulf Oil Corporation one to four-year 5½ per cent debentures.

NEW YORK CURB

Oil Profits Taken
[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Stock prices, with few exceptions, developed a reactionary tone in today's curb market. Heavy profit taking in the oil shares by traders who did not want their profits to show in the 1923 income tax returns resulted in net losses ranging from small fractions to 3½ points in that group. Standard oil of Nebraska dropped 15 points and South Penn Oil 6, the turnover in each case being small.

Standard Oil of Ohio improved slightly on higher crude prices in that territory and Prairie Oil and Gas jumped 4 points to 262, but Standard Oils of Kentucky and New York, Penn-Mex Fuel, Imperial Oil of Canada and Gulf Oil of Pennsylvania dropped a point or more, selling of the last named being influenced by a bond issue.

A group of nearly a point each in Dunhill International and Gold Dust Corporation were the outstanding developments in the industrial division. United States Distributing Corporation improved moderately on stockholders' approval of the recapitalization plan.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb market. Furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 626 South Spring street.

Standard Oils

One of the best evidences of returning prosperity in the Petroleum industry was the placing during the past week, by the Midwest Refining Company of Casper, Wyoming, of an order for 160 derricks, 160 rig irons and 160 bull wheels. The order is one of the largest announced by the supply and equipment trade in recent months, and indicates what the Midwest thinks of the prospects for 1924. These are for use in the Salt Creek field.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Trading on the first day of the new year in all markets was of such ragged and indecisive character as to give an irregular tone to stocks, bonds, commodities and the foreign exchanges. It is very often the case that a brief period of time is required for the markets to recover from the series of year-end holidays which they have experienced. Possibly this is one of the factors which entered into the trading today for the movement of prices on the stock exchange was unusually narrow, with a dull tone which spelled neglect.

The two most important developments of the day, in consideration of the markets as a whole, was the sharp decline in sterling and francs and the semiofficial reports of journals of the iron and steel trade, showing a pig iron production in December larger than that of November, and with a gain in the number of active furnaces for the first time in seven months. The decline in sterling, which carried it down to $4.27¼, and in francs, which carried them once more below 5 cents to the franc, to $4.94½, could hardly be construed as marking a change in the European situation. Rather, these declines were explained by our own bankers as reflecting a sudden cessation in demand, noticeable in the exchanges for the last six or seven days, incident to the balancing of accounts at the end of the year. In other words, just before the end of the year, the "short interest" in the exchanges was engaged in covering its commitments. This back log has now been removed. Nevertheless the sharp decline in sterling and francs created a great deal of interest today, although its effect could hardly be traced so far as the stock market.

The December output of pig iron now is placed at 2,920,928 tons or 94,225 tons a day, as compared with 2,894,395 tons in the thirty days of November, or 96,476 tons a day. If these figures, compiled by journals of the trade, may be considered official, then they record the fact that the shrinkage in pig iron production was checked in December after a long period in which the trend of production was downward. The Iron Trade Review remarked that to all tests domestic consumption of steel in 1923 was the largest ever known and that production of iron and steel in 1923 established new high records for any peace year.

Commodity markets were under the particular influence of the unsettlement in the sterling market and of the fact that both buyers and sellers appear disposed to mark time. Cotton declined very sharply and closed at the bottom.

Irregular Trend

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Confused price movements took place in today's stock market, the first session of the new year, with losses and gains about evenly divided.

Brokers reported heavy offerings from traders who had built up large paper profits in the last two months, but deferred converting them into cash until after the turn of the year so that they would not be subject to 1923 income tax laws. This selling was counteracted somewhat by the repurchase of stocks sold to establish income losses a month ago.

Speculators for the decline also sold certain stocks freely on the theory that the technical condition of the market warranted at least a temporary reaction. Pool operations were reported in a number of specialties.

There was a dearth of trade news during the day. Considerable interest was manifested, however, in the weekly trade reviews.

Iron Age reports that activity in finished steel is more pronounced and that reports from principal centers agree that good mill operations are assured for the first quarter in practically all products with the exception of plates and bars, and prospects for the latter have improved.

Coppers, which have been lagging behind the rest of the list since the current upswing started two months ago, were heavily bought on the improved prospects for 1924.

Maxwell Motors A again jumped into the limelight, touching 63 1-2 or more than 8 points above Monday's final price. Buying of this issue was attributed to reports that 1923 earnings would total $15 a share and to speculative expectation of benefits likely to accrue from the new Chrysler car.

Rails moved up slightly in the early dealings but fell back again before the close. Strength of some of the northwestern issues was ascribed to the repurchasing of stocks sold last month for income tax purposes.

Call money opened at 5 3-4 per cent, eased to 5 1-2 just after noon and thence to 5, where it closed. The time-money market was quiet with business on a 5 per cent basis. Commercial Paper moved slowly at 4 3-4 and 5 per cent.

Weakness of sterling, which dropped 4 1-2 per cent to $4.35, was attributed to selling of bills abroad based on the fear that the Labor party would come into power and signalize its victory with a levy on capital. French francs broke 13 points to 4.87 cents, a new low for all time. Other European rates yielded in sympathy.

GROWING TRADE WITH MEXICO

New Figures Show Big Gains in Imports and Exports

Exchange Natural Products for Our Manufactures

Diminishing Balance Favors United States

Trade of the United States with our next-door neighbor at the south, Mexico, aggregated about $250,000,000 in the calendar year 1923, and $2,500,000,000 in the decade ending with 1923.

While our trade relations with Mexico have always been good, says the Trade Record of the National City Bank of New York, they quite naturally improved after the beginning of the war in Europe from which Mexico had formerly drawn a considerable percentage of her imports. In the year prior to the opening of the war, the calendar year 1913, Mexico took only 48 per cent of her imports from the United States although she was sending us 76 per cent of her exports, but with the difficulties and dangers attending trans-Atlantic commerce during the war she developed the habit of buying a larger share of her imports from the United States and in 1920 she took 75 per cent of her imports from this country as against 48 per cent in the year preceding the war and sent us 88 per cent of her exports as against 76 per cent in the prewar year.

GROWTH OF TRADE

This growth in the trade relations between the United States and Mexico is further evidenced by our own trade figures which show that our exports to Mexico in the ten years since the beginning of the war have aggregated $1,129,000,000 against about $550,000,000 in the ten years preceding the war, while our imports from Mexico in the 1914-23 period totaled $1,280,000,000 against approximately $560,000,000 in the decade preceding the opening of the war.

In the calendar year 1922 the imports from Mexico were $132,000,000 and the exports thereto $110,000,000, while the latest available figures indicate that the imports from Mexico in the calendar year 1923 will be about $140,000,000 and the exports thereto about $120,000,000, bringing our total trade with Mexico in 1923 up to the quarter of a billion line against about $125,000,000 in 1913. In fact, the percentage which we supply of the imports of Mexico is greater than our share in the imports of any other important country. Canada takes about 69 per cent of her imports from us while as already indicated Mexico takes 75 per cent of her imports from the United States.

HOW COMPOSED

What are the articles forming this big trade between the United States and Mexico? The merchandise which we buy from Mexico is chiefly manufacturing material and tropical foodstuffs, and the exports which we send to her are chiefly manufactures. In the calendar year 1922 we took from Mexico about 6,000,000 pounds of hides and skins, 273,000 pounds of rubber, 20,000,000 pounds of cotton, nearly $500,000 worth of mahogany lumber, about $75,000,000 worth of crude petroleum, nearly $8,000,000 worth of copper, and 38,000,000 pounds of coffee.

On the export side we sent her over 1,000,000 pounds of bacon and hams, $5,500,000 worth of lard, $2,000,000 worth of eggs, nearly 3,000,000 pounds of canned salmon, about $2,000,000 worth of boots and shoes, 500,000 pounds of rice, nearly $2,000,000 worth of flour, 1,000,000 pounds of raisins, 6,000,000 pounds of refined sugar, 3,500,000 pounds of raw cotton, 20,000,000 yards of cotton cloth, about $1,500,000 worth of lumber, 3,000,000 pounds of paper, over $2,000,000 worth of refined petroleum, 4,000,000 pounds of tin plate, $14,000,000 pounds of wire, $5,000,000 worth of automobiles, and $1,000,000 worth of tires.

Valenciennes lace, about three inches wide and used for gentlemen's ruffles, cost about $11 a yard in 1785.

BUSINESS ON EVEN KEEL

As we enter 1924 neither a boom nor a general depression is in sight, states the current number of the "Guaranty Survey," which has just been issued by the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

"The outlook," according to the Survey, "is rather for the maintenance of a sound middle course for business as a whole.

"But the vital question which business must now face is how far political influences and activities may affect it during the coming year. The apparently growing tendency to settle economic problems by political action, to inject the government into business fields and to promote class interests by organized political effort at the expense of the general interest, all present a certain menace to business progress which cannot be ignored.

"Important business problems are before Congress for action, and if these problems are handled from the viewpoint of political, rather than business, considerations, this may well affect business prosperity. In the important fields of taxation and transportation particularly is this true. The dominance of political over economic considerations has greatly retarded the recovery of Europe and may easily hamper the progress of the United States.

"In this connection the legislative program of the administration as outlined by President Coolidge in his message to Congress is heartening to the constructive business interests of the country. He indorses the plan formulated by Secretary Mellon for a needed and feasible reduction in the national taxes and gives it priority among his legislative proposals. Relief from needless and ill-proportioned tax burdens would provide a wholesome stimulus to business enterprise.

"Necessarily, such a fiscal program precludes the granting of a general bonus to the able-bodied ex-service men. But the President's uncompromising opposition to a bonus rests not merely upon a desire for governmental economy, but fundamentally upon the conviction that there is no proper obligation to make such a distribution of the taxpayers' money.

STABILIZING INFLUENCES

"Nineteen hundred and twenty-three began with prices, industrial production and the other usual indices of the trend of general business continuing a long-sustained advance. This expansion of activity was accomplished despite the presence of a number of unfavorable factors in the general situation. Among these was a marked lack of balance between wages in different employments and between prices of important commodities.

"Notwithstanding such hindrances, it became evident early in 1923 that production in many lines was attaining a menacing pace. There was widespread fear that a drastic reaction was impending, instead of a general depression, however, there followed gradual recessions in industrial production and in prices. And there was no occasion for disturbance of the credit structure.

"Subsequently production and distribution of commodities, with only moderate changes in the total employment of labor, have been maintained at levels for the most part above those for the corresponding, and generally prosperous, period last year. But the various branches of business have shared very unevenly in the year's prosperity. Readjustments, made necessary by the aftermath of the war and the reaction from the extravagant expansion of 1919-20, are still in process."

AUTO TIRE COST MAY BE HIGHER

Manufacturers Are Not Satisfied With Prices; Trade Expansion

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

AKRON (O.) Jan. 2.—Automobile tire makers will in all probability make efforts to increase the price of tires to automobile manufacturers the coming year. The 10 per cent advance that has become effective is looked upon rather as a first step.

For more than four years the original equipment business has been unprofitable. Originally tire makers wanted this business at any cost because of its advertising value. When plants had been built to supply many more than the required tires, automobile makers cut down prices until tire manufacturers have decided not to accept such business.

However, with demands for tires expanding close to the 50,000,000 mark for the coming year and production very low, it seems makers of casings have found their opportunity of either getting a fair price or leaving the automobile makers without supplies.

Retrenchment has again become the order of the day in the rubber industry. Reports of wages reduced, executives dismissed and other economies are being generally circulated.

Calendar men at the Miller Rubber Company have struck because of a 10 to 15 per cent reduction in wages. Company officials say the men will be replaced and the operation of the plant will not be affected.

Steps to combat a 10 per cent reduction in tire-building prices at Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company have not been taken by the men, although the cut has already gone into effect. Goodyear is reported to be the leader in a movement to reduce the number of high-priced executives.

New tire-building machines reported in commercial production here may revolutionize the tire industry. The Firestone Tire and Rubber Company confirms the report that one new machine can produce seventy tires an hour, with a maximum of five men working on it. The B. F. Goodrich Company is reported to have a machine that will produce 100 tires a day with one man employed.

These new records compare with the high average of forty tires, which can be built by a good mechanic in eight hours.

More than $5,000 pairs of boots and shoes are produced daily by the B. F. Goodrich Company, with production at peak and necessity for increased capacity not at all impossible. The present output, it is reported, is 10,000 pairs ahead of production last year. The revival in the footwear business is attributable to the increased activities in mines, forests and greater purchasing power of the farmers as a whole.

FINANCING MOVING PICTURES DESCRIBED

WHEN AND HOW PRODUCER MAY OBTAIN SUPPORT; RISKS BANKER TAKES

Up to the point where the completed film is in the hands of a producer the commercial banker cannot properly be called upon for credit. If he extends such credit, it is simply in the form of a straight loan secured by the single name paper of the producer, who may, however, be perfectly "good" for the amount, just as he would be in any other undertaking that he might set his hand to. But during his production period his motion-picture undertaking does not afford any basis for bank credit, since failure to complete the film practically results in loss of all that has been done and gives him no return for his investment. If he should therefore be able to finance himself practically entirely up to the end of the production period, or what is the same thing, should be able to get along either through postponement of wage payments or in other ways, until he is able to offer something tangible to the bank as security.

When he has a completed product in his hands, he is in position to approach the lender with a safe "proposition." This proposition consists of an application for such loan as the bank may see fit to extend to him; and, in support of the application, he usually cites the total expenses of producing the film, on the theory that the bank will let him have a certain percentage of it, just as it might agree to loan 50 or 60 per cent of the cost of a stock of manufactured goods.

Of course, all this is on the theory that the film has a perfectly definite market—which may or may not be true.

But there are some dangerous spots in the moving-picture loan. One is found in the fact that there is apparently no absolute guarantee when exhibition is to begin. Special reasons may present themselves for not offering a certain film to the public at a given time. In some cases, the theater may, for reasons of its own, not be ready to undertake the exhibition, and may arrange with the owner of the film for postponement. Ordinarily, the bank cannot assure itself that exhibition will begin when it is scheduled to do so. In the same way, there is danger that the receipts may for some good reasons (or perhaps for a bad one) fail to come up to expectations, in which case the question of its recovering the amount of its loan may be difficult.

Other moving-picture houses hear that the film has not been very successful and decline to put it on, perhaps being authorized to take this attitude by a cancellation clause in the contract. In that case, the bank's only protection is found in the fact that it has the title to a film which has cost money to produce, but which the public is not very anxious to see. To collect the loan from the producer in such circumstances, notwithstanding that he may already have spent the proceeds in paying off his obligations, or in embarking upon a new production, is likely to prove a very difficult matter.—The Magazine of Wall Street.

TORRANCE FIELD PUZZLES

Year of Operation Finds Oil Men Bewildered on Possibilities of Good Wells in Future

BY E. H. BADGER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TORRANCE, Jan. 2.—The year closed with oil operators as bewildered over the Torrance field as they were at the beginning of 1923, great as was the development during the past year. There are no indications yet as to where it will end, and the possibilities of greatly extending the proven area of the field appeared exceptionally good at the close of last week, with oil showing up in three wildcat wells in different sections of the field.

On several occasions during the last few months, when the operators believed they were getting a line on the field, something turned up to upset their calculations. And while there are a goodly number of men, who at the present time have fixed ideas regarding the future of the field, past and present developments indicate that it is best to keep an open mind and wait for the drill to settle all arguments. There are clever operators in the field who regard the field as any man's game, even at this late date.

At the beginning of 1923 there were about forty wells in the field, less than half of which were on production. Their total output was in the neighborhood of 2000 barrels. The proven length of the field was approximately two miles and the width about three-quarters of a mile. Today, there are close to 300 rigs in the field, 100 producing wells, and the proven length is in excess of four miles and the proven width considerably over a mile. The production hovers around 40,000 barrels a day.

It must be said relative to the producing wells that all of the 100 wells are not putting oil in the tanks today as there are about a dozen of that number temporarily off production, either to be cleaned out or for mechanical repairs. Of the 100 wells nearly half of them are pumpers.

GET GOOD START

At the beginning of the year the wells were just getting a good start on their easterly march along Carson street. The north Lomita district and the territory far to the southeast were too far removed from the base of operations to be given serious consideration. Of all the independent operators in the field at the present time, only one, at the opening of 1923, ventured far from production. He was R. W. Edens, who, in defiance of geology, put up a rig at Western and Two Hundred and Thirteenth street, just opposite the northeast corner of the Union Tool plant, on the east side of Torrance.

Mr. Edens has convinced only one operator that he used good judgment in locating the well, and that one is himself. A year of hard luck and misfortune still finds him working on the well, but in that time he has demonstrated that there is oil in the northeast territory.

During the past week the well has been pumping between 75 and 100 barrels of oil a day and a large quantity of water. The water, Mr. Edens says, is due to a poor shutoff. But those who have condemned the territory from the start say the water is edgewater. Mr. Edens, who has sold out interests in the heart of production to finance his operations on this northeastern well, is going to make further efforts to shut off the water. At present the debate on the well might be considered a draw.

It was not until about May of this year that the first operator ventured into the southeast territory. It was then that the Midway Northern Oil Company started the Midway Northern No. 1, drilled by the R. K. Drilling Company. This well was located on the south side of the old Redondo-Long Beach road, one block east of Cedar street. It was immediately offset by the Chanslor-Canfield Midway's Torrance No. 1. Before these wells started drilling, the trend of the structure appeared to be to the southeast, but there was no definite proof as to where it might go. The wells drilled along Carson street show definite improvement as they moved eastward and it looked like a good bet to wager on the Midway Northern No. 1 and Torrance No. 8 as producers, but there was nothing certain about it. The biggest Carson-street well was about 800 barrels, and in August when the Midway Northern No. 1 blew in before it was completed the field felt its first real excitement.

A few weeks later the well was completed and it started off at the rate of about 2000 barrels. Many believing it was a much larger well began bidding high for acreage. Most any piece of ground big enough to put a rig on was picked up as far as three blocks south and three blocks east of the well.

GUSHES OVER BLOCK

Sixty days later, Mr. Edens, drilling six blocks south of the Midway Northern well, brought in the Fortuna No. 1. It was the first well to gush over the crown block, and while it made only 1500 barrels many believed it to be much bigger and a new race for oil acreage was started. Land owners in the face of the excitement demanded short-time drilling and the result was that since August more than 200 rigs were put in south of the old Redondo road and in the north Lomita territory.

While the excitement was on in the southeast district, drilling along Carson street received little attention until the U. S. Royalties brought in a 2000-barrel well on the Vista Highland lease. That well brought Carson street back into the limelight and played a part in the undoing of the north section of the field. While the U. S. Royalties asserted that the depth of the well was slightly less than 3700 feet, there was a feeling among a number of operators that the well had been drilled deeper, and the opinion became general that all that was required to get big production in the Carson-street area was to go deeper.

To test out this theory the Superior drilled two wells, Torrance No. 2 and No. 3, below 3300 feet, and the Chanslor-Canfield Midway followed suit, with Torrance No. 10, offsetting the Superior's No. 1 well. All three wells came in wet. A few days later the Superior Torrance No. 2 came in wet, and the Hub Oil Company got water in its Frye No. 1, drilled to 3750 feet. All of these wells were heralded as big producers before they showed up wet. They gave the field its first setback in headlong development.

Plugging back operations have not been satisfactory in these wells. Two wells which may redeem the north side of the field are the Star Petroleum's B. & R. No. 1 and the Biltmore Oil Company's No. 1 well. The Star Petroleum on Carson street and the Biltmore well is two blocks north of Carson street, and almost as far east as the B. & R. well. The former is standing cemented and the latter is drilling in an oil formation at 3650 feet. It will be completed at 3700 feet in the hope of avoiding water.

DRILL INTO WATER

Five other wells have been drilled into water in the field. The North American Consolidated and Chansior-Canfield Midway hit water in two wells at Plaza Del Amo, just west of Arlington street, at 3500 feet. The Superior and Selby-Root hit water in two wells on the south side of the old Redondo road, two blocks west of Arlington street, and the Federal Drilling Company drilled its Gerner No. 1, at Elgin and Narbonne streets, into water in attempting to deepen it to increase production. The Gerner well is eight blocks south of the old Redondo road.

In some of these wells the trouble is obviously due to bottom water, which in reality may be an intermediate water, while those to the north may be affected by an edge-water condition. The Superior Oil Company, as a result of the water trouble on Carson street and at Plaza Del Amo and Arlington, has condemned all the territory lying north of Plaza Del Amo and has quitclaimed several leases, according to reports.

Until ninety days ago it was believed that the district from Plaza Del Amo south to the old Redondo road, along Arlington street, would have the biggest wells in the field and two big leases changed hands on the strength of that belief, the Associated Oil Company taking over the holdings of the Torrance Oil and Development Company, and George F. Getty taking thirteen acres from the Petroleum Company.

The biggest well brought in in that area is making 650 barrels, and three others brought in during last week are on the beam and are only making about 250 barrels. This fact, along with the two water wells at Plaza Del Amo and Arlington are furnishing the "north edge" advocates with their best argument.

They have a hard time explaining the peculiarities of the structure when it is pointed out that the Standard's Dominguez No. 1, more than a half mile due east of the pumpers, is flowing 1000 barrels a day, and except for the Sentinel's Joughlin No. 1, has the biggest gas pressure in the field. The Standard's well has a tubing pressure of 400 pounds and a casing pressure of 900. The Sentinel's registers about the same.

The come-back of the "north edgers" is that the gravity of the Standard well is low; but in the end all admit that the far east development is too puzzling for explanation at present and is one of the things which leaves the operators all puzzled over the field now as they were a year ago.

The foremost question in the minds of the operators as the year draws to a close is whether the Torrance field will develop a deeper sand. The sharp decline of production in the South Torrance and North Lomita district, where close drilling has pulled 1000-barrel wells down as low as 200 barrels, and the water trouble on the north side is likely to cause some one to try for deep production before 1924 has gone far on its way.

Satisfactory results have not been reported by the Standard and Union drilling deep test wells in the far southwest and northwest sections of the field, but it is not known whether the Union or Standard would care to make known the results of their prospecting for a deeper sand at this time, but if they should fail to get a deeper productive sand or sands in their test wells, known to be close to the edge of the structure, there are a large number of operators who would still not be convinced that there is not a deeper sand underlying the major portion of the field.

KERN OIL CARRIER GIVEN RATE RAISE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 2.—The General Pipeline Company was granted a flat rate of 30 cents a barrel by the State Railroad Commission today for carrying oil from points in Kern county to Los Angeles Harbor and intermediate points. The company protested against the present rate which ranges from 15 to 25 cents.

UNION LEADS IN FINISHED WELLS

Number Completed in State in Year Eighty-four

Combined Initial Production 124,000 Barrels

Activity in 1923 Greatest in Company's History

That the Union Oil Company completed more wells in California during 1923 than any other operating company is indicated by the latest field reports. According to the most accurate figures available the Standard Oil Company drilled and completed about eighty new producers. It has been officially announced that the Union completed eighty-four. The combined initial production of these new Union wells was approximately 124,000 barrels, it is said. At present their daily flow is about 31,000 barrels.

These figures briefly summarize what was by far the most active year in the history of the Union Oil Company. Besides the intensive drilling done in this State the company carried on development campaigns in Texas, Wyoming and Colorado. Two wells were brought in by the Texas department of the company, their combined daily production being 375 barrels. In Wyoming three wells, yielding 1000 barrels daily, and one gas well were brought in.

GASSER IN COLORADO

The company, during its first year in Colorado, provided the Rocky Mountain States with the largest oil thrill in recent years when, on November 11, last, the Wellington No. 1 came in as an 8,500,000 cubic feet gas well, which later turned into a producer of 100 barrels of oil per day, along with the gas.

California operations of the company reflect the trend of oil development in this State during the past year. Concentration of development in Southern California was shown by the fact that all but five of the eighty-four California wells brought in by the Union in 1923 were located in Los Angeles and Orange county fields.

At Santa Fe Springs forty-two of the new Union wells are located. Their combined initial daily production was 91,251 barrels, an average of 2175 barrels per well. At present these wells are producing 19,378 barrels daily, an average of 697 barrels per well per day.

In the Santa Fe field the Union was especially fortunate, having secured a large share of the flush production of 1923, while its present production is perhaps better sustained than that of any other company in the district. The Union has 400 acres in the heart of the Santa Fe field which has been drilled far more conservatively than other sections, it is asserted. As a result the future for the Union, in this sensational district, looms brighter than that of some other operating organizations.

SEVEN AT BEACH

At Long Beach the Union brought in seven wells during 1923. Their initial daily production was 4,105 barrels, an average of 2200 barrels per well. At present these wells are yielding 2545 barrels daily, an average of 363 barrels per day. The high average for Long Beach is due to the Union's Community No. 7, which came in during May as a 12,000-barrel well. This well went off production two months ago, but is being cleaned out and should be back on the production list in a short time.

Eighteen new wells were brought in by the Union at Huntington Beach during 1923, their combined initial daily production being 12,-000 barrels, an average of 694 barrels per well. The present production of these wells is 5736 barrels, an average of 318 barrels.

The company brought in ten wells in the Richfield and Brea districts, one at Montebello and two which opened up the new Inspiration field. The Richfield wells yielded 3230 barrels per day, or 40 barrels per well. They have since decreased to 126 barrels per day, or well.

At Montebello one well, La Merced No. 27, was brought in. It yielded 4000 barrels per day and is still maintaining an average of over 100 barrels. This well is a producer of the third sand, having come in from a much deeper level than the Union oil wells at Montebello, and should cause increased activity in that area during 1924.

Two wells were brought in by the Union in the Elk Hills and Midway-Sunset districts during the year.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

More than 100 wells owned by the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company in the Midway and Sunset fields in Kern county which were shut down during the flush production period in the Southern California fields, are being opened up and placed on the beam.

Shortage of the lower gravity oil for fuel purposes and a steady demand for this kind of oil on the market has caused a number of companies to begin operations in the shallow fields. It is anticipated that the early spring will see practically all of the wells which were shut down some months ago, again in operation.

No decrease in production is anticipated from wells which have been shut down. The average production from the wells being opened by the Chanslor-Canfield Company is about fifty barrels daily. This company is the oil-producing department of the Santa Fe Railway and much of the production goes to that company for fuel.

The company's No. 25-9 well is down 2755 feet and is being drilled ahead. No. 16-25 is down 2725 and is drilling, as also is No. 21-36, at a depth of 1075 feet. No. 14-25 is being reamed, while the No. 29-9 has been completed a depth of 2794 feet. Many new crews have been put on by this company to clean out wells and redrill others.

Gets New Year Well

The first new producer to be completed by the Signal Hill oil field in 1924 was brought in by the Petroleum Midway Company, Midway Foster No. 1-2, at Spring street and Atlantic avenue, as a 1500-barrel well. The early flow contained considerable mud, but is said to have cleared up nicely. The well was drilled 5007 feet, being one of the deepest producers in the northwest extension.

Foster No. 1-2 is producing under test on the same lease. The flow will probably be killed and the well carried down to the lower sands, it is asserted.

The first well on a lease owned in fee by the Shell Company was being brought in last night. It is known as Shell Fee No. 2, and is located near Cherry avenue and Creson street. The hole is down 4876 feet, and preparations to swob were under way early yesterday.

Will Drill Five

According to T. C. Kieruff, president of the North American Consolidated Oil Company, plans are progressing for the drilling of five wells by his company on property adjoining the Calitroleum Petroleum Company's land on Section 4, 11-25, near Maricopa. Two wells already on the property are to be repaired at once. The company is said to have eastern capital.

Official Report

Oil-field operations reported to State Oil and Gas Supervisor R. D. Bush during the week ending December 29, 1923, show twenty-three new wells started, the same number as during the previous week. The total new wells this year is 1400, as compared with 1439 the same date last year.

Tests for water shut-off this week numbered twenty-eight, as compared with thirty-six during the previous week. Yearly total to date 1961; total to same date last year 1698.

Deepening or redrilling jobs this week number 10, as compared with 5 during the preceding week. Total to date this year 293; total to same date last year 269.

Running Tubing

The Republic Production Corporation is running tubing on its No. 7 well in the Huntington Beach field. It is reported by officials of the company, and expects to put the well on production within a few days. Hole is down 4585 feet, and bailing was completed yesterday.

Considerable trouble has been experienced by drillers in Republic's No 6 well at Huntington Beach. Hole is down 4620 feet and was completed about two months ago, but has persistently refused to flow or to yield more than fifteen barrels per day on the pump.

Drillers are now installing new pumps in an attempt to make the well a profitable producer. No 6 is located on the Community lease about 600 feet from No. 7, and is among a group of wells which have been showing low production.

The Republic Production Corporation has four wells producing in the Huntington Beach field, according to officials, and about thirty-six producers in the Midway and Newhall districts.

May Develop Lease

Tentative plans for development of its holdings in the Gardanier district near Lomita are contemplated during the present year by the Midland Oil and Refining Company, it is reported by officials of the organization. The company holds 100 acres in this district.

Derrick Ready

The derrick on the Jameson-Bixby lease two miles east of Olive is completed, and machinery is being installed, according to field reports. The well is to be spudded in by the 15th inst. and, according to officials of the syndicate, drilling probably will be started considerably before that time.

The well is located on the 300-acre lease secured by J. W. Jameson and associates from the Rokridge & Craise Syndicate, which recently acquired 3000 acres in that district from Jotham Bixby. Jameson's well is the only development work proposed at present, it is reported.

Nears Completion

Merserve, Knight & Moran, expect to put their well at Spring street and Pasadena avenue in the Signal Hill field on production shortly. The hole is standing cemented at 4160 feet, and will be drilled through into the oil sand in a few days.

Moserve, Knight & Fyfe's well at American avenue, near Pankfort, is drilling ahead at 4240 feet, in oil sand, having successfully completed a shut-off job at 3800 feet, it is reported. Completion is expected within the next week or two.

Drilling Delayed

J. W. Henderson and associates are drilling at about 500 feet on their wildcat lease in Ventura county on the Simi structure, it is reported. Operations have been somewhat delayed, due to difficulty in getting water to the rig, but this is being overcome by the installation of more powerful pumping equipment, it is said. The well is located on the Henry R. Dabney holdings on the eastern end of the Simi ridge.

Delays Operations

Drilling operations on the Rio Bravo Oil Company's No. 5 well in the Signal Hill field are halted temporarily, but will be resumed within a few days, officials declare. Hole is down 3640 feet. The Rio Bravo Oil Company has three wells on production in this field.

LOS ANGELES CLOSE

CATTLE—Market for killing cattle continued to carry a good strong undertone and the sharp advances noted Monday and the strength Tuesday was still in evidence and in a general way values on both beef steers and the stock are quoted as 50@75c higher than at the close of business last week. The run included a three car string of Canadian fed steers that clinched the top figure for the day, 20 head averaging 1295 pounds at 9.10, three head out at 8.10, with 25 head averages 979 pounds at 9.00, with best native steers, 25 head averages 1174 pounds at 8.50, with 21 head averages 1013 pounds of 7.75. A six-car shipment of Arizona cows, medium grade, dinged at a spread of 5.00@6.00, three head at each figure, the three loads selling at 6.00, averaging 913 pounds, slightly heavier than cows selling at 5.50, other sales of cows in odd lots were noted from 4.50@6.00, with canners and cutters ranging mostly from 2.00@3.50. Quality of the calves included was not up to standard and hardly enough sales were made to afford comparison. Light calves are quoted 8.00@9.00, with heavy calves mostly around the 8.50 figure.

HOGS—It was draggy market on hogs. The recent advances carried local prices to top heavy levels and local packers were inclined to bear down. Only a very few sales were made up to a late hour, these quoted as around 25 cents or 30c lower. Odd lots of choice butchers cleared at $10.00, with two mixed loads, carrying a liberal percentage of butchers but with a few sows included, average 186 and 188 pounds, sold at 9.75, with part load, 88 head of feeder pigs average 101 pounds at 8.00, with odd lots of packing sows, 7.25.

WAMPAS FROLIC

Carl Laemmle May Come From Gotham for Affair

An earlier planning of the production policies of 1924 for the Universal Pictures Corporation may be the result of the invitation of the "Wampas," film publicity men's organization, to Carl Laemmle, president of Universal, to attend the Wampas Frolic in San Francisco on the 19th inst. Mr. Laemmle was not expecting to arrive on the Coast for several weeks, but an urgent invitation from the Wampas and Julius Bernheim, general manager at Universal City, will bring him out for the ball. He will stay on the Coast long enough to decide all big production plans for the studio.

Universal stars who will attend the frolic include Reginald Denny, Hoot Gibson, Mary Philbin, Laura La Plante, William Duncan, Herbert Rawlinson, Jack Hoxie and Virginia Valli, and the "baby star" of the company, Margaret Morris.

BABBITT
BY
SINCLAIR LEWIS

"What do you know about my reputation for oratory?"

"Oh, I'm not going to tell you everything I know! But seriously, you don't realize what a famous man you are."

"Well— Though I haven't done much orating this fall. Too kind of bothered by this Paul Riesling business, I guess. But— Do you know, you're the first person that's really understood what I was getting at, Tanis— Listen to me, will you! Fat nerve I've got, calling you Tanis!"

"Oh, do! And shall I call you George? Don't you think it's awfully nice when two people have so much—what shall I call it?—so much analysis that they can discard all these stupid conventions and understand each other and become acquainted right away, like ships that pass in the night?"

"I certainly do! I certainly do!"

He was no longer quiescent in his chair; he wandered about the room, he dropped on the couch beside her. But as he awkwardly stretched his hand toward her fragile, immaculate fingers, she said brightly, "Do give me a cigarette. Would you think poor Tanis was dreadfully naughty if she smoked?"

"Lord, no! I like it!"

He had often and weightily pondered flappers smoking in Zenith restaurants, but he knew only one woman who smoked—Mrs. Sam Doppelbrau, his flighty neighbor. He ceremoniously lighted Tanis's cigarette, looked for a place to deposit the burnt match, and dropped it into his pocket.

"I'm sure you want a cigar, you poor man!" she crooned.

"Do you mind one?"

"Oh, no! I love the smell of a good cigar; so nice and—nice and like a man. You'll find an ash-tray in my bedroom, on the table beside the bed, if you don't mind getting it."

He was embarrassed by her bedroom: the broad couch with a canopy of violet silk, mauve curtains striped with gold, Chinese Chippendale bureau, and an amazing row of slippers, with ribbon-wound shoe-trees, and primrose stockings lying across them. His manner of bringing the ash-tray had just the right note of easy friendliness, he felt. "A boob like Verg Gunch would try to get funny about seeing her bedroom, but I take it casually." He was not casual afterward. The contentment of companionship was gone, and he was restless with desire to touch her hand. But whenever he turned toward her, the cigarette was in his way. It was a shield between them. He waited till she should have finished, but as he rejoiced at her quick crushing of the light on the ash-tray she said, "Don't you want to give me an other cigarette?" and hopelessly he saw the screen of pale smoke and her graceful tilted hand again between them. He was not merely curious now to find out whether she would let him hold her hand (all in the purest friendship, naturally,) but vaguely obsessed with need of it.

On the surface appeared none of all this fretful drama. They were talking cheerfully of motors, of trips to California, of Chum Frink. Once he said delicately, "I do hate these guys—I hate these people that invite themselves to meals, but I seem to have a feeling I'm going to have supper with the lovely Mrs. Tanis Judique tonight. But I suppose you probably have seven dates already."

"Well, I was thinking some of going to the movies. Yes, I really think I ought to get out and get some fresh air."

She did not encourage him to stay, but never did she discourage him. He considered, "I better take a sneak! She will let me stay—there is something doing—and I mustn't get mixed up with—I mustn't—I've got to beat it." Then, "No, it's too late now."

Suddenly, at 7, brushing her cigarette away, brusquely taking her hand:

"Tanis! Stop teasing me! You know I love you— Here we are, a couple of lonely birds, and we could be happy together. Anyway I am. Never been so happy! Do let me stay! I'll gallop down to the delicatessen and buy some stuff—cold chicken maybe—or cold turkey—and we can have a nice little supper, and afterward, if you want to chase me out, I'll be good and go like a lamb."

"Well—yes—it would be nice," she said.

Nor did she withdraw her hand. He squeezed it, trembling, and blundered toward his coat. At the delicatessen he bought preposterous stores of food, chosen on the principle of expensiveness. From the drug store across the street he telephoned to his wife, "Got to get a fellow to sign a lease before he leaves town on the midnight. Won't be home till late. Don't wait up for me. Kiss Tinka good-night." He expectantly lumbered back to the flat.

"Oh, you bad thing, to buy so much food!" was her greeting, and her voice was gay, her smile acceptant.

He helped her in the tiny white kitchen; he washed the lettuce, he opened the olive bottle. She ordered him to set the table, and as he trotted into the living-room, as he hunted through the buffet for knives and forks, he felt utterly at home.

"Now the only thing," he announced, "is what you're going to wear. I can't decide whether you're to put on your swellest evening gown, or let your hair down and put on short skirts and make-believe you're a little girl."

"I'm going to dine just as I am, in this old chiffon rag, and if you can't stand poor Tanis that way, you can go to the club for dinner!"

"Stand you!" He patted her shoulder. "Child, you're the braniest and the loveliest and finest woman I've ever met! Come now, Lady Wycombe, if you'll take the Duke of Zenith's arm, we will proambulate into the magnolious feed!"

"Oh, you do say the funniest, nicest things!"

When they had finished the picnic supper he thrust his head out of the window and reported, "It's turned awful chilly, and I think it's going to rain. You don't want to go to the movies."

"Well—"

"I wish we had a fireplace! I wish it was raining like all get-out tonight, and we were in a funny little old-fashioned cottage, and the trees thrashing like everything outside, and a great big log fire and—I'll tell you! Let's draw this couch up to the radiator, and stretch our feet out, and pretend it's a wood-fire."

"Oh, I think that's pathetic! You big child!"

But they did draw up to the radiator, and propped their feet against it—his clumsy black shoes, her patent-leather slippers. In the dimness they talked of themselves; of how lonely she was, how bewildered he, and how wonderful they had found each other. As they fell silent the room was stiller than a country lane.
